Special

Edition

APOLLO 11 lifts off Complex 39A at Kennedy Space Center on July 9 amid an awesome array of color, carrying astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins on their epic voyage to the Moon. This spectacular view was captured by a 35mm camera with an extra-wide angle lens positioned at the 360-foot level of the service gantry.

MOST of Africa and portions of Europe and Asia can be seen in this photo taken 98,000 nautical miles from Earth from the spaceship Columbia while in its translunar coast toward the Moon.

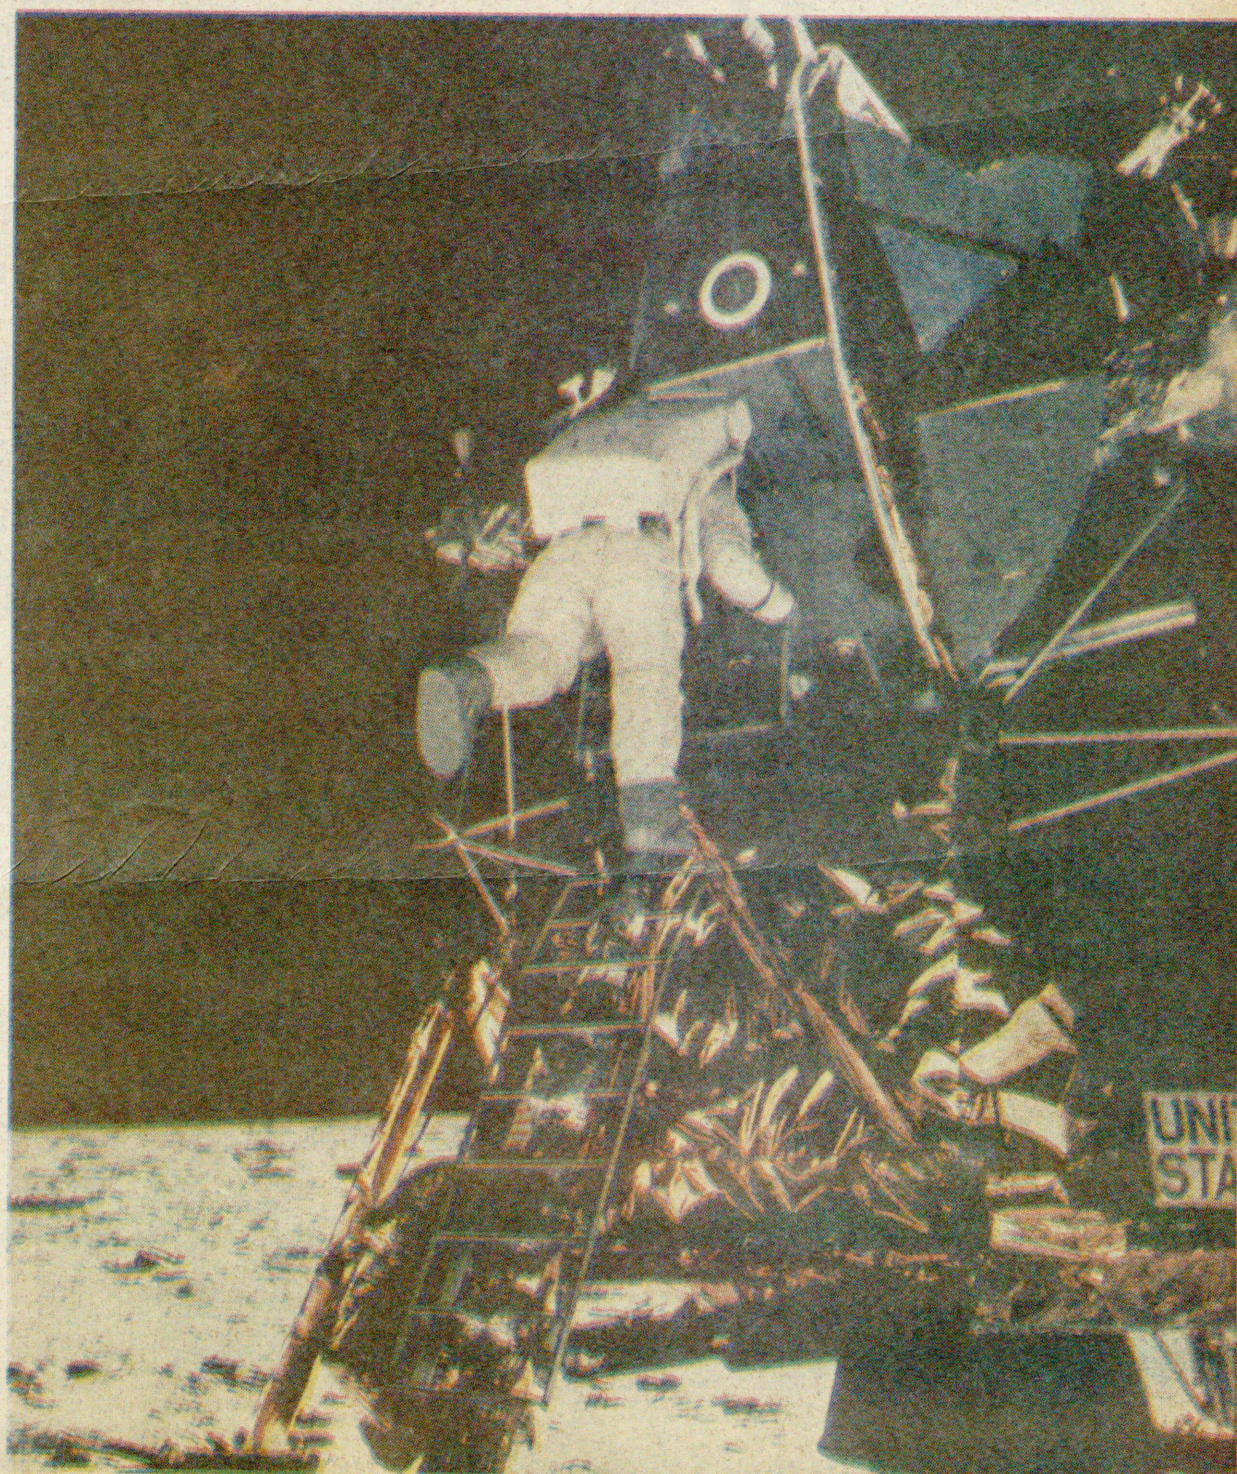

ON MOON'S surface Buzz Aldrin deploys solar wind collector which in one hour 17 minutes captured 10 trillion atoms blown at supersonic speeds from the Sun.

THE LUNAR MODULE ascent stage approaches the Command Module Columbia during rendezvous in lunar orbit. The LM Eagle, with Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin Jr. aboard after exploring the Moon's surface, was making its docking approach preparatory to returning to Earth. The view is looking west, with the Earth rising above the lunar horizon.

NINETEEN minutes after Neil Armstrong's first step onto Moon at 10:56:20 p.m. (EST) on July 20, Aldrin inches down ladder of Eagle to what he identified as "magnificent desolation." The two American astronauts spent 2 hours 20 minutes of placing footprints where none had been before.

Plan To Complete Joliet Rd.

NEW LENOX -- The Village of New Lenox will share the expense of building a block and a half of Joliet Rd. with New Lenox Township. Highway Commissioner Otto Bormet, who attended the meeting of the village board, told the trustees that it would cost $8,000. The township would pay half and the village half. The village board voted to participate in the program.

There is a block to be built between Pine and Ogden, and the half block comes between Ogden and Wisconsin. The work will be done by Bormet.

Bormet also told the trustees of a project in the planning which would provide a road to connect U.S. 30 with Vine St. and thence to Francis Rd. It would be a continuation of Old Hickory Rd., which now has access to U.S. 30, via the new guarded crossing over the Rock Island tracks.

According to the highway commissioner the proposed connection with Vine St. and Francis Rd. would be a project in which the county, township and village would participate. The village board indicated that it was interested in such a program. The job would include erection of a bridge over Hickory Creek. Years ago there was a bridge of sorts over the creek. It was suspended on cables with planks laid across. This bridge was a source of pleasure to young fry of the time because when they got out in the middle, some recall, they could get the structure swinging. The proposed new bridge would not provide such entertainment. As yet there has been no estimate made as to probable cost of the street and bridge but it was expected it would be about $200,000.

The village board donated $250 to the Little League. William Cox, business manager for the village, reported that most of the rehabilitation work to streets and ditches resulting from a sewer extension project at the north end of the village has been completed. An ordinance annexing a section of the east side of Cooper St., across from the Sunset Trail apartments was approved. An ordinance on annexation of three lots on Cherry Hill Rd. was held up.

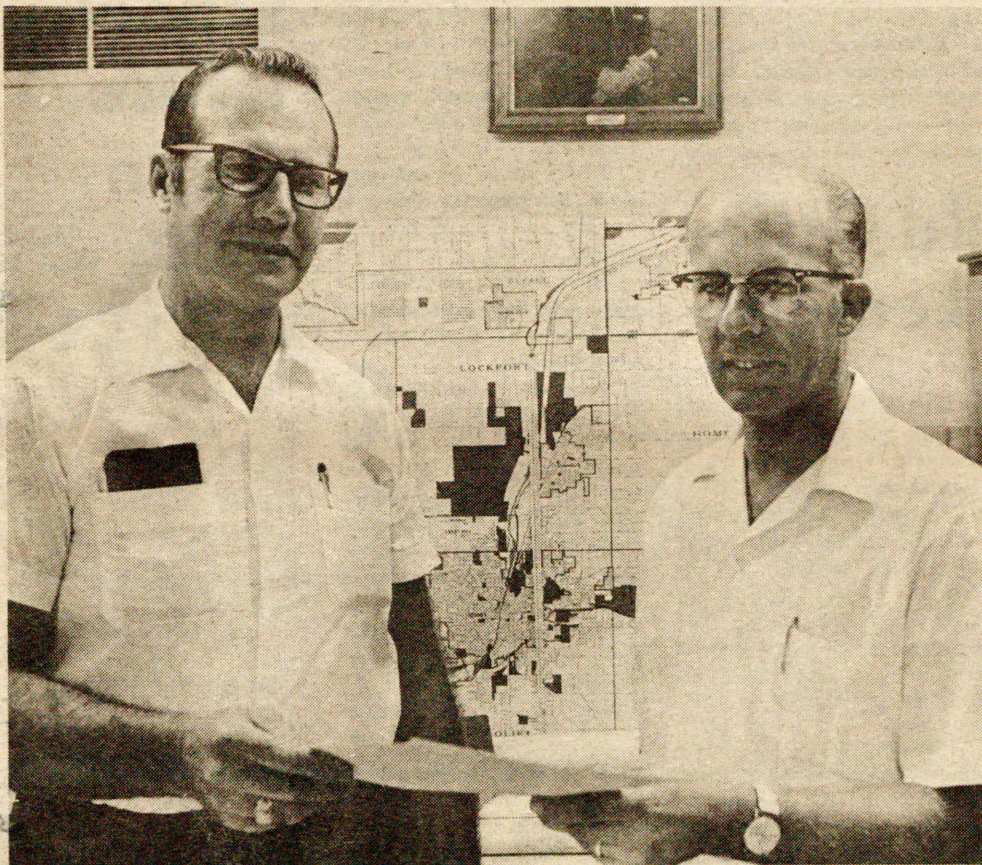

The village board has settled its account with William Bolker, a contractor, who had advanced some $1,500 to pay for extension of a sewer main north on Cedar Rd. to the edge of his property there where he has been building apartments and plans shopping facilities. That was arranged by the previous administration and under the agreement Bolker was to be credited with a $150 tap-on fee for each building erected and the same amount if anyone in the area tapped onto the line. He has erected seven apartment buildings, and is starting the eighth. There have also been three other tap ons so the account is now squared. Apartment building tap-ons are different now. The fee is $200 for the first apartment, $150 for the second, $100 for the third and $100 for every additional apartment. Thus the tap-on fee for an 8-apartment building is $950.

The board also ruled that Michael Lucivjansky, who operates a car wash and a gas station on N. Cedar must pay two sewer bills, one for each facility.

The tax levy ordinance totaling $65,4000 -- money to be raised thru real estate and personal property taxes--was adopted by the board. The annual appropriation ordinance, which was adopted some weeks ago, totaled $1,816,000. This includes the $1,200,000 water bond issue for which buyers are being sought.

A 99-YEAR LEASE for Frankfort Community Park was tendered Dr. Merle L. Otto, (right) vice president of the Frankfort park board, by Mayor Glenn Warning. The lease, which will run from Aug. 4, 1969 to Aug. 4, 2069, will be signed later. It also includes the park in Lincoln Meadows.

Chief Challenges Fire Trustees

By Ann Karkut

LOCKPORT -- Lockport Township Fire Department has a problem. Position of deputy fire chief was established Jan. 1, 1963. Al Kryzak earned that position by taking an exam and was paid accordingly.

Then Sept. 25, 1968, the fire board abolished the position of deputy chief but continued to pay Kryzak the same salary until June of this year. At this time he was told that he no longer had the position. Then came his vacation. Upon his return he was told he could be a fireman and start again at the bottom after 11 years with the department. Then his pay was held up temporarily.

Fire board established six fire lieutenant positions and held an examination. Ten men took the exam including Kryzak. He was not one of the six to be appointed. It was against his better judgement to even take the exam as his position was higher, said Kryzak.

Kryzak refused to be ordered around by lieutenants as the deputy chief position was higher. Fire Chief Carl Munson demanded Kryzak take orders from these men and he flatly refused. Kryzak wants the position clarified and until it is he says he still has the higher position.

Attorney John Ligtenberg, AFT union attorney, was contacted and he will handle the case.

Fire board has stated they will file charges against Kryzak Aug. 13. Kryzak has not been informed to appear as yet for a hearing.

WILL COUNTY-- Zoning board of appeals has several hearings on the agenda this coming week.

Two cases will be heard Tuesday, Aug. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at Cooper and Hostert's Garage in Mokena.

LaSalle National Bank as trustee, requested rezoning I-1, R-1 and F to B-3 for some 19.7 acres in the northeast quarter of section nine located east of Rt. 45 and south of the Rock Island railroad tracks in Frankfort Township.

Richard Kovar requested rezoning R-2 to B-1-C for a part of lot 15 of Arthur McIntosh and Company's Lincoln Estates located between 78th and 80th Aves. north of Rt. 30 in Frankfort Township.

Two area hearings are set for Monday, Aug. 25. First case is set for 7:30 p.m. at Lockport city hall. Bernard Seeley requests rezoning F to B-2 for part of the northeast quarter of section 36 on the south side of Bruce Rd. about 600 feet west of Farrell Rd. in Lockport Township.

Another hearing is set for 8:30 p.m. at the New Lenox Railroad Depot. Lotz Neon Sign Co. requests rezoning F to B-1-C for part of the northeast quarter of section nine on the north side of I-80 north of Francis Rd. in New Lenox Township.

Hearings are set for Tuesday, Aug. 26, at 8:15 p.m. at Valley View School.

Citizens Utilities Co., an Illinois Corporation for portions of sections five and eight, south of Royce Rd. and the DuPage River in DuPage Township, seeks rezoning F and R-2 to I-1.

Rezoning F to B-1-C is requested by Chicago Title and Trust Co. as trustee under the provisions of a trust agreement dated Oct. 10, 1960 and known as trust number 42576 for lot 38 in unit two of Mikan's Romeo Estates located at Mikan Lane and Joliet Rd. in DuPage Township.

Hahn and Kodrich, et al, seeks rezoning F to B-1-A for a portion of the southeast quarter of section 27 located on the northwest side of Joliet Rd. north of Hampton Park in DuPage Township.

Keepataw Celebration Planned Over Labor Day

LEMONT -- The 20th anniversary of the Keepataw Days celebration will be held over the Labor Day weekend in Lemont.

When the settlers first reached the Lemont area they found an Indian village under the name of Keepataw which they appropriated as the first name of the village.

The name was later changed to Athens, and this in turn was supplanted by Lemont.

Keepataw celebration will begin on Saturday evening, Aug. 30, and extend through Labor Day, Sept. 1, under the sponsorship of the Lemont Jaycees.

Co-ordinator for the Jaycees this year is Bill Bromberg.

Assisting Bromberg will be Harry Kersey, chairman of the carnival; Dave Garvey and Mike O'Brien, co-chairmen of the parade; Steve Banaszek, finance chairman; Harry Fedelelem, chairman of the main drawing; and Ron Bromberg and Mick Steck, advisors. This team, along with all members of the Jaycees, have planned a three day celebration that they feel should have the entire community in moon orbit.

Once again the midway will be in the center of town, on Main St. from State to Stephen making two blocks of continuous entertainment. Carnival (continued on page 24)

Romeoville Trustees Change Agreement

by Louise Schaller

ROMEDEVILLE -- Village trustees of Romeoville will bill Alexander Utility customers with a change in the agreement proposed by the utilities company. This was decided after lengthy discussion at last Wednesday's meeting. Trustees will retain 10 per cent of the late charges. Computer service will be used on all water bills. Trustee John Veeniga said he consulted officials from several town boards. They reported that computers have done a satisfactory job with large savings as a result.

Mayor John O'Hara announced that the village will purchase Alexander Utilities within a year. A 20 year option has been held by the village the past four years.

St. Andrew's Church Hi-Teen Club received permission to paint house numbers on the street curbs.

Contracts will be signed within the week for the purchase 68 acres for recreation purposes. Purchase will be made under the federally funded open land program.

Salt bids were opened and the contract awarded to Morton Salt Company at $15.70 per ton delivered.

Lake Shore Dr. was the name chosen for the street surrounding Lake Shirley. Two more men will be hired for the street department.

Ordinances announced and approved by the board were the municipal service ordinance and the occupational tax ordinance.

Wallace Martin was awarded the bid to paint the interior of the Civic Center for $1,310.16.

One bid was received on the drainage work for Norman-town Rd. Trustees felt the amount was too high and directed the village street department to proceed with the work.

Next meeting will be Aug. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

Mobile Field Office Locates In Lemont

LOCKPORT -- Dog Warden Richard Morelli says he received 54 complaints in the township and 20 within the city during July. Fourteen dogs in the township were impounded and disposed. He impounded and disposed of three dogs in the city.

Five township dog bites were reported and two in the city. Three township dogs were returned to owners and two in the city. He found one rabies violation in the township.

Chaney School Board Accepts New Building

By Bev Smutnak

CREST HILL -- After three years' negotiations between District 88 school board, Monge architects Healy, Moore and Associates, and Monge builder Mazucco Construction Co., the school board seems satisfied with the building. They are ready to release the $12,000 owed to Mazucco.

Funds were withheld when the first inspection three years ago revealed ceiling problems. All ceilings in the new building were spotted with rust stains and discolored. This was the state of the ceilings until last week when Mazucco had the painters move in and remedy the problem.

Board voted to accept the paint job if all work completed will comply with the sample work in the sixth grade wing. Board adjourned from their meeting to conduct an inspection tour. Superintendent A.L. Carpenter pointed out a floor tile problem which cropped up.

A bid of $2,570 from Naal Plumbing at Chaney School was thrown out. Board felt the cost excessive. For this sum Naal was to remove an existing hot water tank, dismantle old plumbing, cap pipes where needed, sell and install a new 100 gallon fiberglass hot water tank in the incinerator room, install and sell a new stainless steel sink with hot and cold water in the art room.

Board member Tom Talarico will seek estimates and see if the custodians can do the job.

Custodians were granted a $15 monthly wage increase in addition to the 15 cent hourly hike voted last month. Increase will cover new insurance costs and averages eight cents an hour more.

Board approved payment of $790 to Glenn Miller, attorney, for workmen's compensation and liability insurance.

Superintendent Carpenter declared that neither he nor the District 88 schools are affiliated with door-to-door dictionary salesman Lloyd Robertson of the Southwest Co., Nashville, Tenn. Robertson, selling Webster dictionaries in Crest Hill, has been inducing customers to buy his product by telling them it is both recommended and endorsed by Chaney School officials.

Next meeting is Aug. 19 at 7 p.m. at Monge School. Budget hearing will be held then.

Open Letter from the HIRSCHS'

Dear friends,

Few people realize that the average funeral requires 90 to 100 man hours of service from the time of call until the funeral is completed.

This fact, plus the many other items of expense and overhead, cause the funeral director considerable concern to keep funeral costs from inflating at the rapid rate of other goods and services.

Mokena Park District Adopts Appropriation

Wednesday, August 13, 1969 THE SOUTHWEST GRAPHIC Page 3

MOKENA--The Mokena park district board has adopted its appropriation ordinance for the current fiscal year. The total amount is $76,625 of which $71,425 would be raised by taxation.

Like all appropriations this is larger than will be used and the amount set forth as begin raised thru taxation is also much larger than what will be realized.

Appropriations are larger, it was explained, because the board cannot make any expenditures unless there is an appropriation for the purpose.

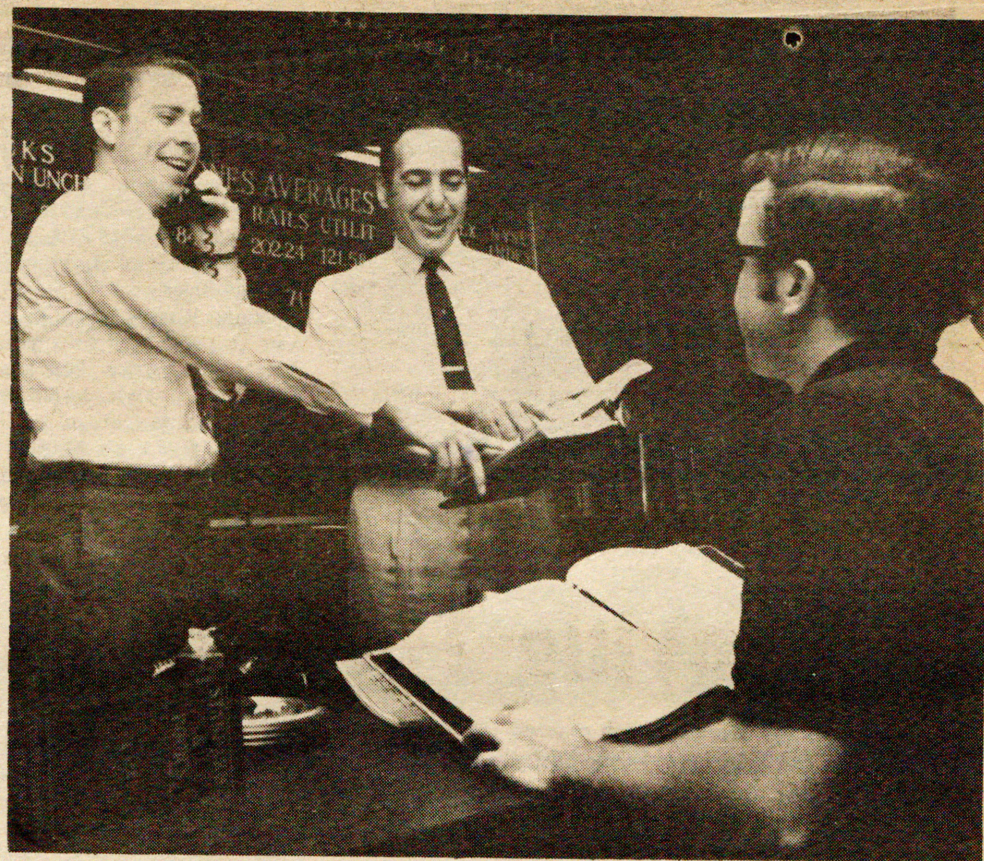

Then if the money did become available it could be used.

Included in the appropriations is an item of $35,000 for land purchases, $10,000 for park buildings. It is not likely the district will acquire more land or construct $10,000 worth of buildings, it was said, but should money and land be available the board is prepared.

The board has earmarked $3,000 for lighting the tennis courts and it is possible that improvement will be made, it was said.

The report of Arthur Om-land, treasurer of the district, the receipts for the year ending June 30, 1968, were $19,229 and there was a cash balance from the previous year of $1,874 so that the total amount of money for the district came to $21,103. Disbursements for the year totaled $17,074.02, which left a balance on hand of $4,028.98. Largest single item among the expenditures was $8,789 for the tennis courts build by Crown Rock Paving Co. of Joliet. Crown Rock also received $1,098 for road building and repairs.

IF MARK RATAY, a sharp young man from Lemont, ever gets his hands on a substantial sum of spare cash, Howard Hughes, Nevada's famous millionaire financier, had better watch out. Mark might set a few financial trends of his own. The 20-year-old youth is winding up eight weeks of studies on stock and investment markets on the campus of Lewis College, Lockport. He and 20 other students in Professor Roger Ashamy's investments course aren't playing games. They have $6,000 worth of securities in today's market. Mark, a pre-law major, is shown with Professor Ashamy in the 'board room' of a Joliet stock and securities firm, and are looking over a recent day's offerings.

Crest Hill To Have Lady Bartenders

By Bev Smutnak

CREST HILL -- If Alderman Marshall Harris had his way, there would not be lady bartenders in Crest Hill today.

However, the Crest Hill city council saw fit to disregard Harris' argument against lady bartenders and voted five to three to give Crest Hill their first female bartenders.

This was the only change made in the liquor ordinance by the council at their last meeting. Three other changes sought, extension of tavern hours to comply with county hours, permission to allow entrances between package goods stores and grocery and drug stores and a change in entertainment fees, were denied.

Harris said he could foresee the day when they would come to a Cal City type strip. He philosophized at length on the matter and stressed the need for some control.

Alderman Mulvey opposed to Harris' thinking, said, "We cannot see discrimination here." He voted for lady bartenders on this basis. Supporting Tomich's motion were Mulvey, Liker, Sealy and Colombo. Voting with Harris against the motion were Aldermen Ficke and Gale.

Change in hours to comply with county hours was rejected by a six to two vote. Tomich and Colombo cast yes votes. Council voted unanimously to support Alderman Liker's motion that council will not allow a change on the ordinance regarding doorways between stores.

Alderman Gale motioned council to leave the license fee for entertainment at $800 per year. Tomich and Colombo were the only ones in favor of changing the fee.

LIDICE MEMORIAL

Alderman Harris, philosophizing a bit more eloquently, persuasively moved the council into voting to accept the deed for the Lidice Memorial Park property and to take over its maintenance.

Park is owned by a Chicago group who asked the city to take it over. City offered it to the Lockport Park District. A letter from the Park District stated it will not acquire or maintain the Lidice monument.

Harris stated, "If someone doesn't maintain this, it will fall by the wayside." He said it would not cost much to cut the grass and trim the shrubs. This would mean a great deal to those people who had been promised so much, that somebody somewhere cares what happened a long time ago in Lidice. Lone objector was Alderman Dale Sealy who voted no.

Police department was paid $46,017.14 in overtime over the last three months. Mayor Frank Berta said it will be studied as the amount keeps growing and the cost is higher than Joliet which is much larger. Payroll totaling $8,238.71 was approved.

Yack Sheet Metal was awarded a contract to alter the exhaust fans and duct work at city hall. Cost is $243. Sewer and water department will install two extensions to fire hydrants at Montessori and Monge Schools at a cost of $115.

Alderman Ficke, chairman, Gale and Mulvey were appointed by Mayor Berta to arrange a get together for city employees.

LOCKPORT -- At the last city council session, Gordon McCluskey, director of public works, informed the council that Bob Drake has obtained sidewalk bids for his subdivision. Council stands firm on its decision not to issue further building permits until the sidewalks are in or a bond posted.

Letters were sent by Attorney Gene Korst requesting weeds be cut on vacant property. Some owners have complied with the request. City will cut the other weeds and bill the owners.

A 189 foot sewer line at 8th and Summit was checked out with a television camera. Line has been cleared but the tile is broken and needs replacing.

Janitor requested purchase of a vacuum cleaner for the carpeting in the police department. Request was approved with Swen Nelson voting no. Frank Meyers and Jim Miller were absent.

Salaries approved were police department, $4,251.26; street department, $1,650.10; administration, $516.66; janitor, $100; and clerk for city clerk's office, $125.

Plan County Highway Work

WILL COUNTY--An accelerated highway program is planned for Will County. State Representative W. Robert Blair, (R-Park Forest), chairman of the Illinois Highway Study Commission, says that several state projects will be completed within the next 18 months.

Most of the projects require resurfacing. From the south limit of Crete on Ill. 1 to Ill. 394, three miles will be resurfaced.

Ill. 53 will be resurfaced in several places, with 0.33 miles on Moran St. to Ruby St. in Joliet; 1.26 miles from Elsie St., Crest Hill, to Moran St., Joliet; 7.83 miles from 1.4 N. Joliet Ave. to Elsie St.; and 2.99 miles from the Will-DuPage County Line to 1-55, resurfacing and widening to 24 feet.

Resurfacing and widening to 24 feet is planned for U. S. 30 with 0.81 miles from 0.44 W. Circle Dr. to 0.17 W. Wolf Rd., FAS 63. From the Kendall-Will County Line, 6.49 miles on U.S. 30 will be resurfaced to .1 N. Ill. 126.

State plans on resurfacing 2.78 miles on U.S. 45 from 0.43 S. 1-80 to U.S. 30.

Ill. 59 will be resurfaced 8.06 miles from the DuPage-Will County Line to U.S. 30 and will also have the bridge widened in this area.

Frankfort Board Proposes Limited Angle Parking

FRANKFORT -- The Village board agenda at its last session was rather a mixed bag. In the course of a lengthy evening a variety of subjects were discussed including, parking, parks, sewage treatment, sewers, water-mains, building, revenue matters and housekeeping.

On the subject of parking the board instructed Village Attorney August Santoro to have an ordinance ready for the next meeting which would limit angle parking on Ash St. to the west side of the street. Parallel parking will be the rule for the east side of that street in the one-way block between Nebraska and Kansas St. That block is a one-way for northbound travel. With angle parking on both sides of the street the only traffic the street can handle comfortably, it was said, would be scooters and bicycles.

Trustees pointed out that there would be more room for customer parking if employees of business firms refrained from parking in the business area. Employers too take up space, they added and the clerk's office was instructed to direct a letter to Cooper-Show that the parking space built by the village on Kansas St. near White was not to be used as display space for new or used cars. The space is for public parking, the board emphasized.

A 99-year lease was tendered the Frankfort park board that will run from Aug. 4, 1969 but will not be signed until later, after a notice has been published. The papers were handed over to Dr. Merle L. Otto, vice president of the park board, by Mayor Glenn Warning. The usual $1 "and other valuable consideration" will be paid by the park district. The lease covers Community Park and the park in Lincoln Meadows.

The board will also have the planters moved in the two one-way blocks in the business section. They have been dimpled on various occasions and so have automobile fenders.

The board authorized payment of $2,209 for completing the lighting at the park ball diamond. The village appropriated $2,900 for the park this year, the park board having no money. The park board should collect some tax money next year. It will file its tax levy ordinance next month.

The village attorney was authorized to draft an ordinance increasing the village share of the state sales tax to one cent. It now gets three-quarters of a cent. The state law empowering this increase becomes effective Oct. 1.

Frankfort only had $4,900 available in the motor fuel tax fund at Springfield that the state could grab in paying off its debt. The state borrowed $60-million from the motor fuel tax fund to spend on things other than highways. To make up this deficit it is taking all the money due municipalities, townships and counties that was on hand at Springfield. The last session of the legislature, however, has changed the law so that the money due from motor fuel tax to a village, for instance, will be sent there each month and the village can put it in its own bank. However, it was pointed out, the state highway department will still tell that village how it can spend the money.

The legislature also increased the amount to be paid the underlying governments from the state motor fuel tax. The formula had been approximately $5 a head on an official census figure. Now it will be around $6 per capita.

Frankfort is arranging now with the federal census bureau to have an official count made of the population. The village board believes there has been sufficient gain to make it worthwhile to have a count now instead of waiting for the results of the 1970 census.

Trustee Howard Osmus reported that a steel building to house village equipment would cost about $8,600. It would be erected at the sewage treatment plant site. Trustee Lynn Kohlhausen said he believed that a building of masonry and frame construction could be built for approximately the same price and that such a structure could be so erected that it would follow the 1890 theme. It was decided to give the matter further study and get cost estimates.

The board voted a salary of $500 to be paid the mayor elected in 1973 for his duties as liquor commissioner. The board proposed to make the salary applicable now but Mayor Warning said, "No."

The state water board has ordered Frankfort to upgrade its sewage treatment methods. This may necessitate another polishing pond or sand filters, or both, it was said. Village Engineer Robert Hamilton has been instructed to make preliminary plans toward compliance with the state's order. The village has a couple years in which to get the work done, it was said. One of the first things to be done will be to take a series of smoke tests to ascertain leaks in the sewer mains as well as sources of surface water.

Story Hour

LOCKPORT -- Public library will resume story hour Saturday, Aug. 16, at 10 a.m. for the youngsters of the community.

Story hour is held in the children's department on the second floor.

RESIDENTS OF Lemont have noticed the flower baskets hung on the light posts in the business district of the village. The red roses in black pots were hung-up by the Lemont Chamber of Commerce as part of their beautification program. (Staff photo by Pat Callahan.)

LOCKPORT -- Building and use permits for July total $110,475, with total for the year at $819,879, according to Grant Lawrence, zoning officer.

James Raue of 926 Runyan Dr. was granted a permit for a three bedroom frame ranch style residence with attached garage costing $28,000; Jerome Morgan, of 2004 S. Names N. Lenox Man As Assessor Supervisor

NEW LENOX--Frank L. Clark, assessor of New Lenox Township, has been named the new supervisor of assessments and tax records by County Treasurer Clarence Lipman(R). He succeeds Ted Baskerville who is now supervisor of the tax mapping department.

Clark was re-elected last April but his second term will not actually begin until next January. He has completed the basic Illinois course for township assessors, sponsored by the Association of Illinois Assessors.

According to Lipman, Clark's duties include supervising the work of Will County's 24 assessors and providing aid when needed.

He must check all assessors' real estate and personal property books to see they are balanced and that records are properly kept. Clark also will be responsible for keeping all property record cards in the treasurer's office up to date.

The new supervisor of assessments is a graduate of Stout State College, Menominee, Wis., has a BS degree in vocational education and taught school in Michigan and Wisconsin for eight years before going into sales work. Prior to his appointment by Lipman he was associated with Frick Insurance and Real Estate at New Lenox.

"Frank is one of Will County's more capable assessors," Lipman said, "and I think he is the best man for this job."

Lipman said he is arranging for Clark to take additional courses from the state association of assessors.

In World War II Clark served in the Coast Guard for 39 months, much of it in the South Pacific.

He and his wife, Esther, have four children.

The New Lenox town board will meet a week from tomorrow night, Aug. 21, and it is probable that it will take action on naming Clark's successor. A spokesman for the board said that before taking any action it will confer with John B. Anderson, township attorney.

ATHLETE'S FOOT, FOOT ODOR? READ THIS --

M. Sgt. Geo. Cofer writes from Southeast Asia: "I had the worst case of foot odor a person could have -- tried all the remedies I could find. Then I got T-4-L and the F.O. was gone in two days."

"I had 1/2 bottle left. I saw this Sgt. limping from a bad case of running sores on his feet -- had them for years and couldn't wear regulation black socks. I gave him the last of my T-4-L and even helped him apply it. In 3 days his foot was better and in one week all clear. He was thrilled and now wears black socks." Reading Program A Success

FRANKFORT -- With a great deal of satisfaction Librarian Arlene Santoro reported the end of the summer reading program at Frankfort's Public Library.

Over 50 children attended one of two reading sessions given during July.

Judith McMillan led the 5-7 year olds by reading stories and poetry. The highlight for her group came at the last session when she combined stories of cats, facts about cats, and real cats to help the children understand these animals.

Virginia Osmus led the 8-9 year olds to explore sounds, stories, true facts, and manners. The last session provided the children themselves with the opportunity to tell their own stories using puppets.

Many auto owners carry the statutory minimums for bodily injury and property damage liability. These limits will satisfy the legal requirements imposed by law, but they may not satisfy the liberal awards handed down by the courts in personal injury cases. Nor will they be adequate in a multi-vehicle highway accident. Nor does this amount go far toward the spiraling costs of medical care.

The at-fault driver is responsible for the amount of damages he causes without regard to the minimum insurance prescribed by the State.

There is always apprehension about the extent of coverage AFTER an accident -- when it is too late to change. The proper time to satisfy your concern is NOW! Call ILLINOIS SECURITIES CO. at 726-5376 and discuss your limits of liability with any one of our professional staff.

Fight Warm-Up

Commentators are warming up to the task of renewed sex education reporting. With school days not so far off, media pundits are starting to forecast more rounds in the title fight to land the knock-out punch.

Fans on one side want to see the loud, dread and irksome parent groups put to rest. Those parent groups would just as soon flatten the hard to stop school boards, as a defense of children's morals and well being.

The contestants are indeed gathering their resources. Take these examples.

A group named "The Comprehensive Medical Society" has announced a "major conference on sex education will take place in Chicago on Aug. 15, 16, 17 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. About 1,000 people will represent all medical and allied professions."

That organization's president explained in part, "We chose the middle of August because we want our participants to engage in a reasonable discussion of the subject before the schools open -- in view of the growing commotion."

The program coordinator discussed objectives: "History is filled with vocal minorities speaking and acting for passive majorities. This is a period of proliferating, organized attacks against sex education. Now comes the moment of truth for responsible adults -- to judge and evaluate."

These are words that surely incense the opposition. Who knows, there may be picketing and demonstrations at the Hilton this August, too.

It goes the other way around at the end of the month when CHIDE, the Committee to Halt Indoctrination and Demoralization in Education, holds its first national convention at the Hilton, Aug. 29, 30 and 31.

"All over the United States, independent committees have sprung up in opposing such problems as sex education and sensitivity training in the schools. The purpose of this convention," the CHIDE announcements say, "is to bring together these committees to open the issues publicly and give them the national attention they deserve."

Surely CHIDE would be classified as one of those "vocal minorities" the Comprehensive Medical Society seems to take a dim view of.

There is no doubt that the battle lines are again being drawn. Replace CHIDE and the Comprehensive Medical Society with John Birch Society or Christian Crusade or Parents For Sensible Sex Education versus Sex Information and Education Council of the United States (SIECUS) or the National Education Association or any of a large number of local school boards -- the issues seem to be the same.

Groups on both sides have been looking into the closets of the other side and claim rather ugly findings about motives and aims of the other.

The problem with the sex education spectacle, it seems, is simply that all parties are too inclined to jab and spar over all "issues" but the important ones of calmly determining what the actual informational needs of the children at all levels in schools are and the best manner of serving those needs.

Outlawing Guns

The bleeding hearts are in full tongue again, this time clamoring for legislation to disarm the honest citizen.

They appear to believe that by banning firearms they will ban violence. . . . Rather silly isn't it? The centuries have brought many changes in the world but human nature remains pretty much what it has always been.

To really ban violence, ban man. But even the most ardent banners wouldn't go that far. It would put them out of business. Some people are never happy unless they can be striving to ban something. Succeeding in their quest is not important. It is the dashing about the committee meetings, the opportunity to get their names or pictures in the papers, the feeling of importance, that satisfies the bulk of banners but for the professionals, the boys who make a living at it, it is the easy money -- some of it from the suckers who contribute and some of it from public funds.

Ban booze, ban war, ban fats, ban carbohydrates, ban milk, ban coffee, ban tea, ban mashed potatoes, ban the airplane, ban horses, ban dogs, ban cats, ban books, ban newspapers, radio and TV, ban religion, ban government, ban anything and one can always find backers who will come up with some money.

In this latest thing about guns -- the banners would have congress pass a law to make it illegal to possess a pistol (with the next amendment to carry a ban on long guns) and somebody with a very practical mind that probably remembered how lucrative prohibition was for the bootlegger has suggested that the taxpayers buy all these pistols at $20 each from the owners. A good handgun purchased thru legitimate channels costs from about $60 to $150. Just imagine what a bonanza that would be. Someone has estimated there are 95 million handguns in the country. Say that the bureaucrats given custody of these guns actually did destroy the junk stuff there would still be millions of guns that could, and probably would, be sold at astronomical prices.

The mobsters have no difficulty in getting guns. They buy them wholesale, taking delivery thru a store -- real or paper. They wouldn't turn in their guns. The criminals wouldn't turn in their guns and the Supreme Court has ruled they don't have to because it would be an admission that would be self-incriminatory. The only guns to be turned in would be those of law abiding citizens, but it is doubtful that congress will push them that far.

Washington D.C. has one of the highest rates for crimes of violence in the country so it is not improbable that some of the members of congress pack a pistol when on their lawful errands about the town.

The Declaration of Independence says that all men are created equal but it has been pointed out that it was Samuel Colt, who brought out the 45 calibre pistol, that made it so. The Colt 45 established law and order in many wild spots on this earth and it still carries a lot of weight for good, just as did one of the favorite early models, the Peacemaker.

If guns are to be banned because they kill, maybe the automobile should be proscribed. It now kills more people than die in a full scale war.

And how about outlawing pinochle decks. It has been claimed by astute students of pinochle that aces have killed more people than bullets.

Taxes Go Up, Up, Up

The biggest step for mankind was taken when Neil Armstrong performed his leap onto the moon. This was great! The only problem now seems to be the State of Illinois wanting to take a big step also, but this one involves the state income tax.

Out of the pay checks of Illinois resident-workers this week came the first state income tax. It wasn't much, but then now, today, every little bit helps. The cost of living is slowly on the rise, matter-of-fact not slowly but on a steady incline.

What can we the little man of the state do about it. We who are suffering the bunt of the tax dollars cannot escape the fact that we have to pay to support our type of government. But don't you agree that there is a limit?

The state is in a 'financial bind' and hopes that through the taxing program can financially 'get on its feet' again. I hope it does.

If enough residents of the state would voice their opinions, in letter form intelligently written, the officials in the 'high positions' might listen and take heed of our little voices. As Congressman Edward J. Derwinski stated, "There is nothing mightier than a 10¢ pencil in the hands of a taxpayer writing his congressman."

"Sorry, pal; someone has to get soaked."

Dear Editor:

Twelve years ago when my father was buried at Mt. Vernon Memorial Hills the family was comforted by the fact that this was a beautiful cemetery, far removed from the city.

Dad had been a country boy before moving to Chicago, and loved to be out in the fresh air. A year later when Dad's brother passed away, he requested that we bury him near Dad. He, too, felt the peace that Mt. Vernon offered.

I wonder now if we would feel the same way if a loved one died today. Would you like to bury a loved one next to a garbage dump.

I'm sure there is another answer to your problem of garbage disposal without putting a so called sanitary landfill next to a cemetery.

My mother is very upset about the plan, and so am I, and I'm sure many other relatives of persons buried at Mt. Vernon. I don't want my dad and uncle buried next to a garbage dump, find another spot to get rid of your garbage.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Marion Bobholz

Offers Nursery School

ROMEOVILLE--The Rev. John Huff, pastor of the Hampton Park United Presbyterian Church, said the church will offer community nursery school this year.

Nursery school program was established in June when 34 preschool children were enrolled for the summer.

Church's effort is to offer a quality program surpassing state requirements for day care centers to local residents at a low tuition fee. Nursery school is operated on a not-for-profit basis.

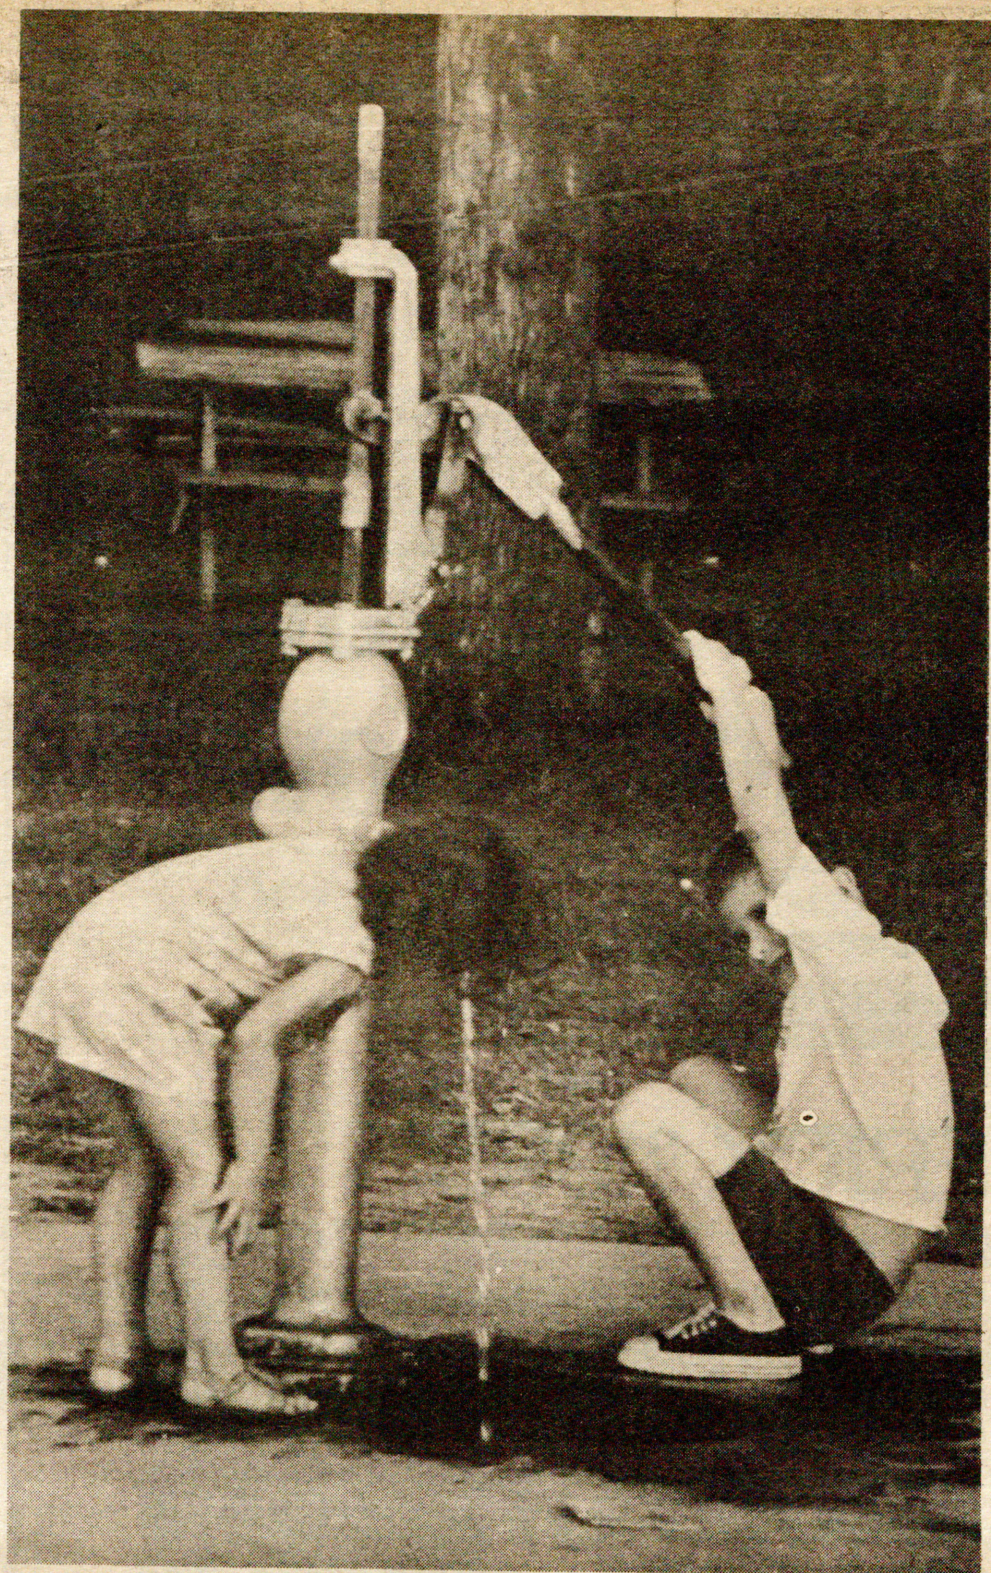

Director of the school is Lynn Howell who has a bachelor of science degree from Wisconsin State University and a master's degree from the Evangelical Theological Seminary in Naperville.

Registrations are now being accepted. Four year olds attend Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for morning or afternoons at a tuition fee of $18 monthly. Two and three year olds may have morning or afternoon sessions on Tuesdays and Thursdays at $13 per month.

For further information call 838-6158.

SUMMERTIME brings out the fun in the outdoors. Activities of all kinds, just so that they are outside, are participated in by all children. While strolling through the forest preserve on a warm, summer day, photographer Pat Callahan came across this young boy helping his sister get a drink from a water pump. First it takes muscles to get the water to come out, then it takes a quick drink to refresh the dry throat.

What About Central School?

Citizens of Lockport are pondering what should be done with the old Central Grade School. Board members of District 91 have set a minimum price of $225,000 for the building and block square grounds. Property will be sold in September.

Should the Lockport Township Park District board purchase it? If so, they would need to pass a referendum to purchase it. Is it a good sound move? If the building is utilized by the Park District they could rent office space to township officials and other governmental bodies.

Perhaps the grounds, a block square, and the building could serve the needs as a Community Center. The youth of the area would have some place large enough to go.

The gym was added on to the building in the 1930's. Doesn't it seem a waste of good money to demolish this 35 or so year old structure? Couldn't it be utilized for teen dances, community meetings, etc.?

Do you, as private citizens, have any ideas as to what might be done with this property? If so, let us know your opinions. Building and grounds will cost at least $225,000. School board is committed to sell it to help finance their new Milne Grove School which was badly needed.

But, somehow, it doesn't seem quite right just to tear down and demolish all old structures within the community. If the building is sound and can be utilized, then it seems like it should be used for such purposes.

IF THE residents of Bruning Subdivision are wondering where the Lockport Heights Sanitary District published their financial report I can help them out.

Although the residents served by this sanitary district live in the Lockport area the report was published in the July 24 issue of a Joliet published paper which is not generally circulated on newsstands and particularly not in the Lockport area.

Perhaps copies of this paper were circulated but in case they weren't here are some of the highlights of the report as stated.

Reserve revenue fund had a cash balance of $4,800 and the bond and interest fund revenue showed $6,676.34 balance as of May 31.

Names of individuals and companies may be obtained by calling this office.

Perhaps you're also interested in how the Will County Forest Preserve spends your tax dollars. They purchased 76.68 acres in DuPage Township at a cost of $128,887.50 in 1966. They also purchased 75 acres in Lamb's Woods in 1966 for $75,000.

Receipts for the year totaled $138,896.19 while disbursements came to $138,452.59.

Will County Forest Preserve District report appeared in the same publication in the July 31 issue. Complete report shows how much money was paid to individuals and companies.

Perhaps no one is interested in these financial statements but if anyone is, the figures are here. This has been done as a courtesy to our readers who may or may not have access to the publication in which their reports were printed.

Re-enter Arts, Crafts Projects

ROMEOVILLE -- John Strobe, Romeoville recreation director, announced that several arts and crafts projects are being re-entered for the final week.

The ever popular cone toy, candle holders, soap center pieces and other projects will be featured. Children may make up projects missed. Make up days will be Aug. 12, 14, 18 and 19 at West View Junior High School and at St. Andrew's.

Claudia Cummings, arts and crafts instructor at St. Andrew's, was selected queen from Lockport West High School to reign at the Mardi Gras festivities in Joliet. She is a senior and has worked for the recreation program the past two years.

Children from West View, St. Andrew's and Lutheran Church playgrounds toured the police and fire departments Aug. 6. Children learned much about their services. Plans are being made to make it an annual event.

Boys baseball program will be completed this week.

Awards night will be held Aug. 22 at 7 p.m. at Lake Shirley.

Silver Cross To Have New Refresher Course

SOUTHWEST -- New medications and techniques in medicine will be taught in the Silver Cross Hospital Graduate Nurse Refresher course beginning Sept. 29, and continuing for 12 weeks, meeting from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Many registered nurses leave active duty to raise families and then find, after the children are well along in school, they are interested in pursuing their profession.

Silver Cross Hospital's course covers theory and supervised clinical experience concentrated mainly on medical-surgical nursing. Included will be trends in nursing and health care, basis of nursing care, intensive care, coronary care, emergency, and the nurse's role in a disaster.

How to milk a Long Distance call for all it's worth.

Here are some neat little tricks of the trade that will help you get more out of the minutes and the money you spend on a Long Distance call.

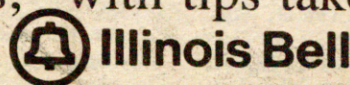

The Old Eggtimer-by-the-Phone Trick: Just keep one of those three-minute eggtimers next to the phone when you dial. It's a great help for people who just don't know when to say goodbye.

The Old Talk-a-Little-Longer Trick: After the first three minutes, a call is charged in one minute increments. So if you talk for three-and-a-half minutes, you might as well talk for four minutes, since it won't cost any more.

The Old Station-to-Person Trick: Not sure the one you want will be there? Think about this: you can often make two station-to-station calls for about the cost of one person-to-person call.

If you want to learn more neat tricks of the trade, just write to Illinois Bell, Box LD-30D, 225 W. Randolph, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

We'll send you a free folder, "How to Get More for Your Money on Long Distance Calls," with tips taken right from the Operator's manual.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Dear Miss Brookfield:

My husband is over 60 and I am 53. Would you believe that, at my age, I have a sex problem? Well, I do. Even the thought of sex gives me hot flashes and throbbing headache. My husband enjoys sex as much as ever. He is retired and around the house. He is driving me out of my mind. What can I do?

A.E., Oklahoma City

Dear A.E.:

If your attitude toward sex is of recent origin, we would suggest you discuss the problem with your physician. Before and after the menopause, many women complain that they are not "in the mood" for sex. There are a variety of reasons for this. But for many women, a deficiency of the hormone, estrogen, with the onset of menopause, causes physical discomfort during sexual relations. And this affects a woman's attitude toward sex. If estrogen deficiency is the cause of your problem, your physician can correct the hormonal imbalance with estrogen replacement therapy.

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I am 19 and have been married for a year. My husband works days and I work nights. But when we are both free, he takes off and leaves me alone. If I ask him where he goes or whom he was with, we start an argument. Is a wife just supposed to sit home and wait for her husband and not ask questions? I've lost trust in him. Please tell me what to do.

M.J., Cleveland, Tex.

Dear M.J.:

No, it is not usual for a wife to sit home while her husband constantly leaves her behind without any explanation. If attempts to discuss this problem reasonably with your husband have failed, as you say, then we would suggest that you talk to someone who can not only advise you but can discuss the problem with your husband, too. You might contact your Family Service Association or your clergyman.

Dear Miss Brookfield:

Is there any cream or preparation known that will permanently fade the brown spots on the back of my hands? I am 43. I have tried a number of preparations on the market but nothing seems to help. Perhaps I should not be so concerned, but I am.

W.T., Crystal Bay, Nevada

Dear W.T.:

Although these brown spots are often associated with age, real culprit is usually sunlight. These spots that appear on the exposed areas of the skin such as the back of the hands or the face and neck of older people are the result of years of exposure to sun and wind. While preparations on the market may either lighten or bleach them, nothing—unfortunately—will remove them permanently. You can, however, avoid further irritation by eliminating extreme exposure to sunlight. Protective skin creams used during the summer months will be helpful in slowing down the appearance of more spots. On special, dress-up occasions, if you find these spots are of particular concern, try masking them with make-up.

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice and help write to Margaret Brookfield, Graphic Newspapers, 200 Main St., Lemont Ill. 60439.

SOUTHWEST -- Summer is certainly the time to get out in the fresh air under blue skies and live. Good company, comfortable clothes, and food that's easy to prepare make up the menu for this kind of a party.

Teriyaki, with its Far Eastern accent, makes an exotic dish for adults while younger folk munch happily on hamburgers and frankfurters. The cubed sirloin steak used for the tasty Teriyaki marinates several hours or overnight in a piquant sauce of rich, mellow molasses, soy sauce, sherry, onion and ground ginger.

Shape the hamburger meat into patties and cut slits in the frankfurters preparatory to grilling, and there's little left to do except make the barbecue sauce.

TERIYAKI

2 lbs. sirloin steak, about 1 inch thick
1/3 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup sherry

1/3 cup molasses
Pineapple chunks (optional)

Cut steak into 1-inch cubes. Combine onion, ginger, soy sauce, sherry and molasses in a bowl; mix well. Add meat. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Remove meat. Alternate meat on skewers with pineapple chunks. Grill to desired degree of doneness. Yield: six to eight servings.

ZESTY BARBECUE SAUCE

1/4 cup molasses
1/4 cup vinegar
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1/8 teaspoon tabasco

Combine all ingredients in a saucepan; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer five minutes. Yield: approximately 1 1/2 cups (enough for two dozen frankfurters or hamburgers, or three broiler-fryer chickens.)

SEPTEMBER BRIDE - Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bolte of Plainfield announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Paula Jean, to Floyd A. Women Alone Should Stay Where They Are SOUTHWEST -- Suburban women who were either recently widowed or divorced are strongly urged to remain in their communities for a year at least and then, if possible, move to a large city. This advice was offered by Isabella Taves, noted writer and author of the current book, "Women Alone."

Miss Taves has a blanket rule: "Make no major decisions the first year. I think divorcees, particularly, may find that they can't afford to live in the same place. But it takes a year before you get on your feet."

As with all rules, however, there are exceptions. These apply to widows and divorcees with young children who may find city living too expensive, and older women who are often more content to remain where they have roots.

Miss Taves is the widow of Dan Mich, former senior editor of Look magazine. To gather data on the problems of readjusting to life without a husband, she talked to "Women Alone" throughout the United States and in resorts in the Far East, South America and Europe.

She said in an interview here that while suburban friends and neighbors extend invitations to recent widows and divorcees, "after a while the invitations drop off."

In the city, the widow or divorcee is apt to have a more active social life, she reported. "I am prejudiced in favor of a woman living in a city simply because there are many things for her to do -- there are many outlets if she will take them. Of course, there is the woman who sits in her apartment and never goes out, but there are museums, there are clubs

-- and I don't mean the single bars, either. You can do all sorts of charity work where you can make contacts with people of all ages.

The woman living alone in a small community has special problems, the author said. "It's dreadful because, for one thing, every time you have a man over to fix the tractor, say, everybody says: 'Look who's over at Widow Brown's.'"

Miss Taves stressed, however, that city life offers more social advantages but does not necessarily increase the chances of remarriage.

"How to meet a man is another thing entirely. You're just lucky if you meet a pleasant man with whom you can go out, let alone marry; but I'm talking about making friends."

Whether a woman has been left alone by death or divorce, Miss Taves has found that both experience a sense of rejection. "Your ego is damaged dreadfully, whether it is by death or divorce. You feel a rejection. You also feel a rejection by the old friends you used to know. They don't want you around if you're a single woman. There are too many single women in the world."

The author cautioned women alone against remarrying in haste. "I think the worst mistake a woman can make is to remarry too soon, because she hasn't discovered herself and she is apt to settle for somebody she wouldn't marry if she waited."

On the other hand, her research demonstrated that men in similar circumstances tend to remarry quickly. "One of the patterns I discovered is that men who are widowers or divorced like to remarry within three months, simply because they don't know what to do with themselves. They don't want to eat out every night.

Kindergarten, Mrs. Joan Blackman; first grade, Miss Sandy Anderson and Miss Vivienne Jacobson; second grade, Miss Alice Black and Mrs. Barbara Wendt; third grade, Mrs. Lottie Belle Foutz, and Mrs. Marcia Hoffman; fourth grade, Mrs. Paula Guthrie; fifth grade, Mrs. Sue Gibbs and Robert Remko; sixth grade, Mrs. Karen Kabbot and Terry Nolan; seventh grade, Robert Hinze and Richard McCarthy; eighth grade, Paul Brown and Jim Reeves; the physical education teacher is Don Ferrell. William Avila is Superintendent.

School will re-open this fall with the teachers meeting on Aug. 28 and the first thru eighth grades beginning on Sept. 2. The kindergarten will not begin classes until Sept. 3.

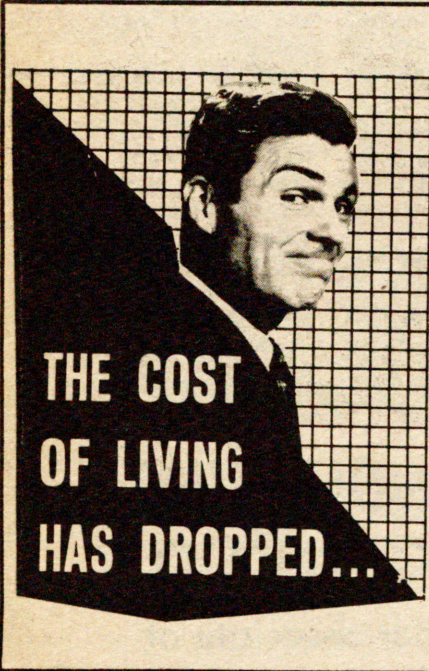

The Arbury Hills School will again be included in the Lincoln-Way area special education classes for those youngsters in our area needing their special benefits.

Our best wishes and heartfelt thanks for a job well done over several years to Tom Tanis. He resigned from the school board recently, since he was moving from Arbury Hills to New Lenox. We can wish nothing more for his replacement, Woodrow Horton from Tinley Gardens, than that he is as conscientious in his work as Tom had been.

competant baby sitters. The oldest of the family is Lora Jean who is three, and the younger girl is Debra Ann who is two. Congratulations all!

The second newcomer made her appearance at the Little Company of Mary Hospital in Evergreen Park on July 31. Charles and Christine Evans of 9534 Hickory St., doubled the size of their family with their first son, who was named Charles Scott. He weighed a nice even seven pounds at birth. His baby sitter sister Karen who is 12½ is much more competent to help out. A much welcome addition to the family is Master Charles after so many years.

The Arbury Hills Pony League Team entered a post-season tournament in Chicago Heights, Aug. 2. They were defeated by Flossmoor, 4-3. Too bad, boys. Better times next year.

ROMEONVILLE -- Ladies Bowling League of Hampton Park is recruiting members. Residents of Romeoville, Bolingbrook and surrounding areas are welcome.

For information call 838-7235 or 838-2224. If there is no reply call the Lockport Strike 'n Spare Bowling lanes. League will begin bowling Aug. 25 at 9 p.m.

The school board is presently in the process of selling $75,000 of the $125,000 bond issue approved in the spring election.

Construction on the building addition should begin shortly with completion tentatively set for spring.

By selling only a portion of the bonds at this time, the board is saving the taxpayers money, since the taxpayer is assessed only on that portion of the bond issue which has been sold, not on the entire amount voted upon.

Lemont Varsity Coach Calls Football Practice

By RUSS SANDBERG

The opening call to football practice has been sounded by Lemont High head varsity coach Jan Cralle. Double practice sessions begin at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 20, and will be in vogue until the start of the 1969-70 school term.

Equipment will be issued to varsity candidates between the hours of 1-4 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 19, while prospective frosh-sophomores are slated to receive their gear at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 20.

Coach Cralle also wants to remind the players that a total of 14 practice sessions are state required before an individual is able to participate in a regularly scheduled game, which for Lemont High is an opening date with Chicago Christian High on Saturday, Sept. 13.

Line coach Matt Connor returns to assist coach Cralle with the varsity unit, while the veteran frosh-soph duo of Bob Voss and Lou Kuk will once again hold reign over the yearlings.

The Lemont High Booster Club recently sponsored a "get acquainted" affair wherein members of the coaching staff explained to the parents what is expected of their sons, plus the many safety features which have now become a basic part of the football equipment they will wear.

Several interesting movies were also shown, after which followed a social hour featuring coffee, pop, ice cream, cake and conversation.

The winning of baseball titles is not exactly a novelty for a Carousel sponsored softball team, and the year 1969 proved to be no exception.

Playing in the Indian Bounty Y.M.C.A. league in Downers Grove, the Lemont entry captured top honors in the night division with an outstanding mark of 11 wins and only 1 loss.

Overall, this hard hitting entry has compiled a 19-4 ledger, which no doubt will be increased before the current campaign has run its full course.

The figure of manager John Kickels loomed large throughout the entire year. John was ably abetted by player-coach Pat O'Brien. They supplied superior leadership, but no doubt would be the first to admit that you cannot win without a semblance of talent.

Junk, Ruins, Rats Spur Protest

NEW LENOX -- A delegation of residents from South Cedar Rd. appeared at the village board meeting here last Wednesday to urge eradication of what they term a nuisance. There are junk cars, other junk, filth and the remains of a structure that had once served as a garage and a house, on the second lot south of Roy St., on the east side of Cedar. The neighbors say the place is rat infested too. They also complain that a great hole in the ground that once was a basement is a hazard because it contains water, garbage and filth.

The delegation wants the lot cleared of junk and ruins, and the basement filled in. The property is in a good neighborhood, it was pointed out, surrounded by neat, well kept homes.

The house that once rested above the basement burned. Then the owner took up residence in the garage, saying he was going to re-build the house. Since then the garage has been severely damaged by fire. No one lives there now but the rats, according to the neighbors.

The Will County Health Department is now seeking to establish who is the owner of the place so action can be taken against him. The property is held in the trust with the Union National Bank of Joliet as trustee. When property is held in this manner identity of the owner is difficult to learn without considerable work, it was said. The health department is taking the necessary steps, a staff member said, to locate the owner.

At the village board meeting it was said that some litigation involving the property was imminent and it is possible this could speed up the action.

Mayor Joseph Hartung told the delegation that the village would do what it could to eliminate this eyesore. Members of the board voted to expend $500, if necessary, to get the basement filled, the old garage pulled down and the lot cleared of junk.

It was conceded, however, that the health department had the power to get the job done and done quickly and the health department is ready to proceed, according to Robert Crawford, of the sanitation department, as soon as it finds out who owns the property.

Crawford said that the health department officers who have inspected the place did not report seeing any rats but they agreed it was a place where the rodents would breed and live and that the conditions should be eliminated.

Charles Fleischman, who lives on the corner of Roy and Cedar, immediately north of the property complained of, said that he and other neighbors have seen rats running about the premises. The place is a health hazard he declared. Fleischman served as spokesman for the group which came to lodge a complaint. The water in the old basement is a breeding place for mosquitoes and a child that fell in there could drown, he said.

AIRMAN GEORGE W. Chipman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Chipman of 442 Clifton, Lockport, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for training in metalworking. Airman Chipman is a graduate of Lockport West High School.

Laraway Rd. Extension Is Blocked By Law Suit

FRANKFORT -- Extension of Laraway Rd., from Center St. here to Harlem Av., which has been held up for the past year, could be done in 1970, if settlement is reached soon on controversy over right of way.

Frank Fleck, resides on a 20-acre tract on the east side Center, where Laraway Rd. now comes to a dead end. The Will county highway committee has been unable to date to reach an agreement with Fleck on the price of the right-of-way, which it is said, goes thru some of his buildings and up to his house.

Fleck says the county's offer is not high enough and the county contends Fleck's price is too high. Last April Attorney Arthur T. Lennon, acting for the state's attorney's office, filed a condemnation suit.

There were 13 pieces of land the county needs to extend Laraway Rd. to Harlem Av. It has succeeded in reaching agreements with 11 of the owners and a spokesman says it has assurance of getting the last piece as soon as the Fleck parcel is acquired.

The county does not have authority, such as the state or federal government, to quick-take land. The state and federal people file condemnation proceedings and then proceed immediately to use the property involved. In time the case is completed and the state or federal people pay the owner the price decided on in court.

Lennon is hopeful that an agreement can be reached with Fleck before the suit comes to trial. So does

Recorder Lists Five Transfers

LEMONT--County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen listed the sales of five property transactions in the Lemont Township real estate transfer report.

Olsen recorded the following property transfers for the township. The list shows the purchase price of equity and does not include the amount of a mortgage which the purchaser may have assumed.

Transfers include: 420 Grant St. from Fred F. Fries to Raymond L. Roth; 1100 Florence St., Joseph V. Suchy to Richard A. Anderson; 113 Illinois St., Richard J. Knoebel to Glenn W. McAdam; 1105 Florence St., John H. Ash to Stanley R. Slachetka; and 309 Logan St., Stanley Lipinski to George W. Dudney.

County Engineer Roy Cousins. If an agreement is not reached it will be sometime in the fall before the condemnation suit is heard.

When Laraway Rd. is finished to Harlem Av. then it will be possible to get some work done on Sauk Trail. There are some sharp, dangerous bends and narrow bridges on Sauk Trail between Frankfort and Harlem Av., that should be removed, it was agreed but first Laraway Rd. should be open for traffic. Completion of Laraway Rd. would relieve Frankfort of traffic that now uses Sauk Trail.

Lenox Residents Protest Debris

SOME OF the residents of S. Cedar Rd. in the vicinity of Roy St., attended the New Lenox village board meeting last week to ask that action be taken to clear up the filth and debris on a lot which they claim is rat infested. Seated at the far right is Charles Fleischman, who lives next door to the mess. He was spokesman for the group but several others also expressed opinions. The village will help them, Mayor Joseph Hartung told the delegation.

(GRAPHIC photo)

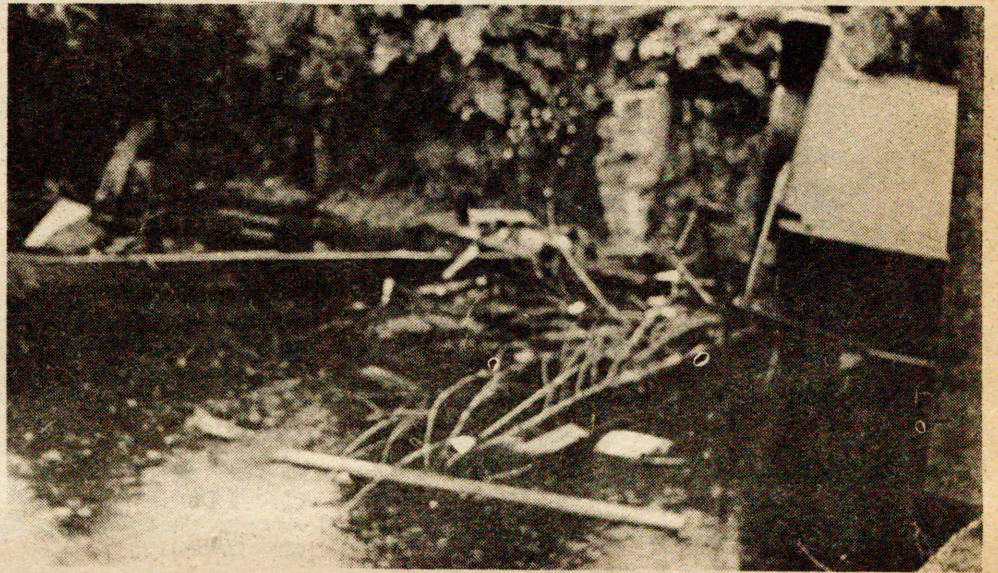

EYESORE IRKS neighbors along S. Cedar Rd. in New Lenox. It is on the second lot south of Roy St., on the east side of Cedar. There had been a house there and it burned. That left the garage in which people were living while purportedly preparing to build a house. Then the garage caught on fire but the blaze was extinguished before the structure was destroyed.

(GRAPHIC photo)

JUNK VEHICLES are left in yard on east side of S. Cedar Rd., a little south of Roy St. add to slummy appearance of the place. Neighbors are endeavoring to get action to have the place cleaned up. It is an attractive lot and in a good neighborhood but has been neglected, authorities agree.

(GRAPHIC photo)

ONCE A BASEMENT this hole has been used as a dump for garbage and filth and the rains have made it a breeding ground for mosquitoes as well as a place where a child could drown. The garbage that was dumped here by previous owner, according to charges made by neighbors, is believed to have attracted the rats that people living nearby claim to have seen on the premises.

MORE JUNK on the abandoned lot on S. Cedar Rd., New Lenox, which offers shelter for rats, according to neighbors. Charles Fleischman, who lives on the adjoining lot north, said he has seen many rats about the place and is naturally concerned about the condition. The building here started to burn once and there are people who regret that the fire department in answering the alarm did not detour by way of Frankfort and Mokena. As it was firemen arrived in time to extinguish the flames.

Astronauts Learn About Space On Earth

Copyright 1969 World Book
Science Service

Nobody can deny that our astronauts go on some pretty exciting trips--like to the moon. But did you realize that they do a lot of traveling here on Earth, too?

The astronaut's ability to interpret what he sees on the moon--or any other heavenly body he happens to be visiting--is very important.

He has to make judgments about what he's looking at and he has to be able to do better than, "There's a what-chamacallit straight ahead."

One of the best ways to get an astronaut ready for a sightseeing trip in space is to show him all sorts of peculiar landscapes and rock formations right here on Earth. And this takes him to some pretty exotic places.

One of the things that we know any lunar astronauts will run into is craters. There are a number of volcanoes in Hawaii and the astronauts have crawled all over some of their craters.

They've also explored meteor craters in Arizona and Australia. Some of the best geologists in the world served as tour guides when the astronauts visited Iceland to take a look at various geological structures there.

And in the Grand Canyon they got a better understanding of rock strata.

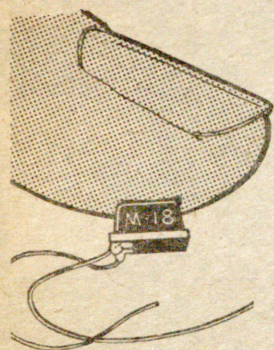

Fill in each row of boxes with the name of something the astronauts have gone to see here on Earth. If you choose the right words, the word formed in the heavy column will be something that's fun and educational.

ANSWERS: rock strata, rock formations, landscapes, volcanoes, meteor craters, geological structures.
SOLUTION: travel.

Blue Light Aids Jaundiced Babies

World Book Science File

MINI-POWER

A transistor is only about 1 per cent the size of a vacuum tube of similar performance. Transistors have made it possible to build tiny hearing aids that fit on eyeglasses. They operate on much less power than vacuum tubes, and produce almost no heat.

No one knows exactly how it works, but fluorescent blue light applied to newborn babies with jaundice due to blood incompatibilities seems to eliminate the need for complete blood exchange transfusions.

Though the phototherapy is still highly controversial among clinicians, Dr. Thomas Sisson of Philadelphia's Temple University reports tremendous success in lowering dangerously high levels of serum bilirubin, the toxin which causes this often fatal disease.

Dr. Jerold Lucey of the University of Vermont introduced the treatment two years ago to prevent jaundice in premature infants, and Dr. Sisson has adapted the procedure for newborns with the disease.

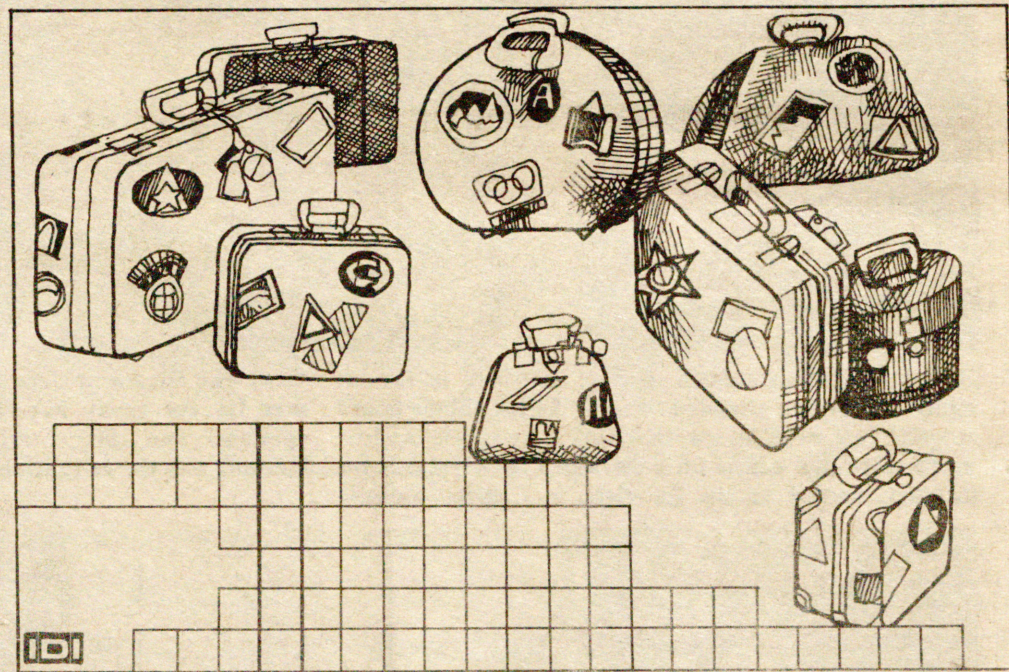

To do so, he uses a plexiglass shield to protect the baby from any ultraviolet rays and pads the baby's eyes heavily against damage to the retinas.

Not one of a group of 50 infants exposed to the blue light required an exchange of blood, while three in the control group not receiving the light did. The blue light seems to decompose the bilirubin and is, according to Dr. Sisson, equally effective for both white and Negro babies.

Some doctors, however, have found that the melanin pigment in Negro baby skin tends to block the penetration of any of the effective radiation.

So far, no one has been able to trace what happens to the bilirubin once it has been photoexposed. Some researchers contend that it may not lose its toxicity at all, but just pools up somewhere in the body tissue to cause trouble later.

Others fight any innovation in treating these unfortunate infants, remembering that other promising treatments turned out to have deadly effects.

A physiotherapy type of device is totally unscientific," say some doctors. But, unscientific or not, Dr. Sisson intends to try to save as many jaundiced newborns as possible with blue light.

Dr. Lucey says, "If we put them out in the sun they'd get 20 times more light and nobody'd kick about that."

POOR SUBSTITUTE --

Some cream and milk substitutes contain 20 per cent more saturated fatty acids and a lot fewer protein calories than the real thing, warns the AMA's Council on Food and Nutrition. "Use of imitation milks in children's diets is undesirable and should be discouraged," it says.

-0-

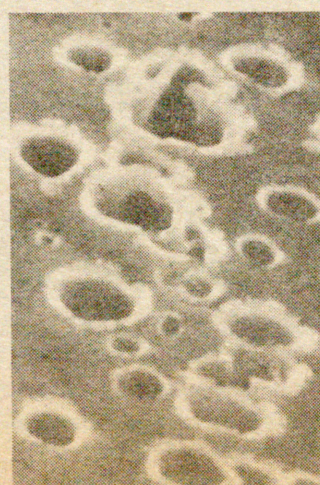

VACUUMED CLOTS --

Observing how oil-drillers retrieved drill bits and other debris from wells with a vacuum, Dr. Lazar J. Greenfield of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Oklahoma City has successfully applied the same principle to suck large clots out of the bloodstream without surgery.

GLUTTONY AND DIABETES--

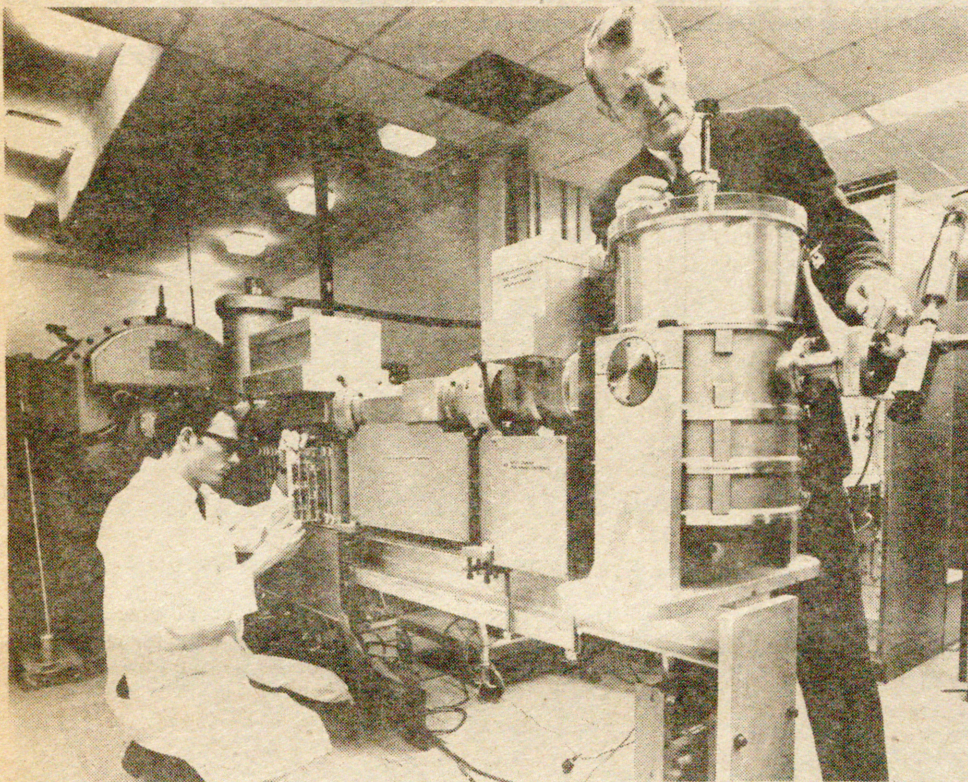

Dr. Ernest M. Gold of the UCLA School of Medicine believes that it is food gorging and not obesity that causes diabetes. To prove his point, he has been conducting some convincing experiments with nine men whose average weight was 250 pounds.

(low altitude probes). Although thousands of cosmic dust particle impacts have been recorded by various satellites and sounding rocket experiments, scientists have never actually seen a particle.

Understanding their origin, direction of movement, velocities, composition and other characteristics may help explain many cosmic phenomena.

Photo No. 2 shows aluminum foil bombardment by the gun's "bullets," which are microscopic-size spheres of iron carbonyl--a dust-like substance. Magnification is 5,700 times.

By JOE COSTA

WORLD'S FASTEST 'GUN'

The fastest "gun" in the world (above) isn't fired in anger. Instead, scientists use it to shoot tiny iron particles at speeds up to 355,000 miles an hour--100 times faster than a speeding bullet--to simulate cosmic dust found in space.

Called an Electrostatic

Dust Particle Accelerator, it is now in operation at the laboratory of the Theoretical Studies Branch at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md.

Its purpose is to check out cosmic dust scientific experiments flown on satellites and sounding rockets

By William B. Furlong

Col. Edwin (Buzz) Aldrin, the man who followed Neil Armstrong onto the surface of the moon -- has a face as tough as a top sergeant looking over a fresh batch of recruits, and a gaze as cool and steady as a marksman taking aim.

But this is deceiving. It has been 10 years since he engaged in anything but cerebral work -- 10 years since he wore his Air Force uniform. Aldrin is more accurately described by his activities than his appearance.

He has a doctorate in astronautics from Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). (He is the first Ph.D. ever launched into space.)

He has done everything from climbing Mt. Vesuvius to skin diving around ancient treasure ships.

He has a perspective and a purpose that are expressed quietly but cogently. Among examples are:

His thought on the priority of the space program in the nation's interest: "I think we should have a stopping place everywhere but up."

His advice to his own youngsters: "Being the champion of the extraordinary is lonely, but gratifying."

Buzz keeps in shape by swimming, scuba diving and doing high bar exercises.

The Aldrins like to live experimentally and prac-

It wasn't until I hit high school that I really began to get my teeth into this business of education and what it could mean for me.

Before then, my elementary teachers had always seemed remote, living in an adult world of their own. In high school they became people, approachable and helpful.

Because Wapakoneta (Ohio) High School was small -- my graduating class numbered less than 70 -- we enjoyed much closer student-teacher relationships than exist in the larger metropolitan schools.

This made up for a lot of facilities we lacked in our farming area. In some ways, our educations were almost "custom-tailored" for us.

For instance, I was allowed to select my own science projects and given all the time I needed for them, once my science teacher, Grover Crites, noted my intense interest in his subject. (Crites retired this year after 53 years of teaching.)

By allowing me longer lab periods, measured against a percentage of time in classroom for fundamentals, Crites encouraged me and stimulated me to work harder than I might have under a more rigid and orthodox system.

Since our high school library matched its other fa-

Glenn Weighs Priorities of U.S. Space Program

Copyright 1969 World Book Science Service

BY COL. JOHN GLENN JR.

There was a feeling of unreality about watching men walk on the moon. Although I've experienced some of the same sensations as the Apollo 11 crew, I almost felt that I was watching a science fiction movie on the late show.

It took a while to realize how real and beautiful it was and to appreciate that everyone could experience the whole adventure right along with Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins.

Those of us who flew missions that were part of the buildup toward a lunar landing could not help but feel a twinge of envy. I certainly did. Anyone who would not be envious of having that tremendous experience just doesn't have any red corpuscles left.

Now that the thrill and excitement is over, many people are searching for answers to questions about this tremendous achievement which have been raised both inside and outside the space program.

What will be the greatest benefit of the flight? Was it all worth it? Where do we go from here? Should we land a man on Mars? Or should we forget about space for a while and concentrate on problems here on Earth? How will be moon-landing affect our religious beliefs?

Possibly the greatest benefit of the flight will be that many nations and people will see themselves in a different light. Seeing earth as a colorful oasis in the darkness and barrenness of the universe, we realize that we are just fellow-riders on a spacecraft of our own.

Our philosophical approach to the planet where we live may change as a result. We may see the futility of warring with our fellow passengers in space and the danger of destroying our spacecraft by pollution and overcrowding.

Was this worth the cost? Or, said a different way: Have we gotten $24 billion worth of useful information from the space program? I don't know the answer to that. Maybe we haven't got our money's worth yet. But I think we have the capability tically. For instance, there is no wall between their bedroom and the family room.

Joan Aldrin is a healthy outgoing woman who earned a degree in drama from Columbia University. She had her own radio program in college, played small roles on television (Playhouse 90, Studio One), and still plays parts in theater groups around Houston. "In some circles," says Buzz Aldrin, "I am known as Joan Aldrin's husband."

They have three children: Mike 13, Jan, almost 12, and Andy, 11.

Joan makes a deep effort to understand the more arcane details of Buzz's work in space, but she doesn't. Buzz tries to understand the more mystical meanings of her work in drama but he doesn't.

Yet there are moments when poet and pilot come together.

One was the night before his lift off in Gemini 12 in November, 1966. They stood on the beach in Florida and looked up at the star-sprinkled sky.

It was midnight and a moment for romance. But he was worried about navigational problems "and stood there shooting stars with a sextant," says Joan helplessly.

When he graduated from MIT, Buzz was assigned to work on the unmanned target vehicle for testing rendezvous in Earth-orbit. Then he was transferred to Houston to work on scientific experiments to be carried out on Gemini mission by the astronauts.

Buzz applied to become an astronaut himself, but was turned down because he was not a test pilot. Then, in 1963, that requirement was lifted. NASA began looking for scientists who could function in space.

He became an astronaut in October, 1963, and in November, 1966, he flew with astronaut James Lovell on Gemini 12. At first, he was disappointed that the emphasis of this flight was on space-walking or EVA (extra-vehicular activity).

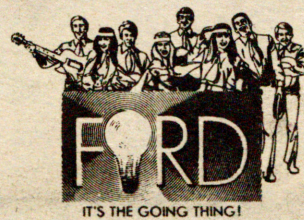

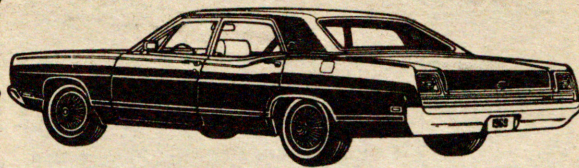

But there was an urgent need to work out successful procedures and equipment so that a man could leave a spacecraft, do useful work in space or on the moon's surface, and return.

On three earlier space walks, a number of problems developed. The astronauts became exhausted and were unable to complete their assignments. But on Gemini 12, Buzz spent 5½ hours outside the spacecraft. Aldrin returned elated, not exhausted.

Now 2½ years later, he has set his foot on the moon. In a way, his entire life has been a preparation for Apollo 11. It has been an expression of unquenchable mental and physical commitment to the farthest reaches of human and scientific experience.

Joyful Reunion For Moonmen

Eleven days after they blasted off on their epic moon - landing mission Astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins were back in Houston, Texas, for a strange but joyful reunion with their families.

There were no hugs and kisses. No personal contact. Embraces had to wait until doctors were certain the moon heroes were not infected with any disease-bearing lunar germs.

The astronauts, sealed inside a mobile quarantine facility since their splash-down in the Pacific Ocean, were able to see and converse via telephones with their families when they arrived at the Manned Spacecraft Center. They were then transferred to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory.

The famous crew has been pronounced healthy and free of exotic diseases, so the quarantine was lifted Sunday night, one day earlier than scheduled.

Now the astronauts and their families will enjoy a full-fledged, glorious reunion while a grateful public cuts loose with a bang-up welcome.

Chicago Toasts Astronauts Today

The Apollo 11 astronauts, with their wives and children, will visit Chicago Wednesday afternoon following a ticker tape parade in New York City in the morning.

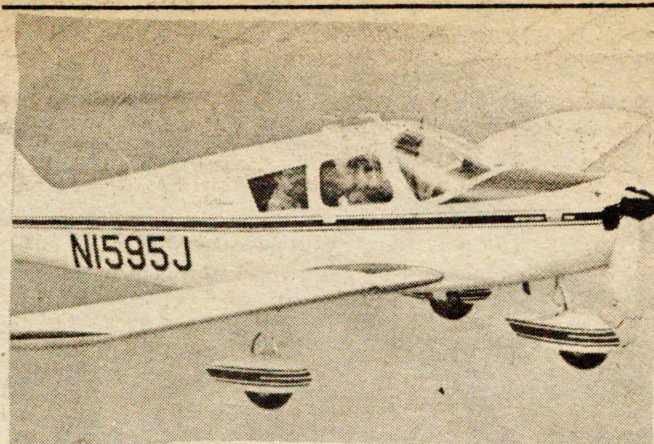

At 4:30 p.m. they will depart for Los Angeles where they will be honored by President Richard Nixon at a state dinner.

The families of Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins will be honored guests for a parade and programs at the Civic Center and Grant Park.

They will arrive at O'Hare Airport at 2 p.m. and be flown by helicopter to Meigs Field. A motorcade will take the visitors to the parade's starting point at Oak and Michigan.

A 30-minute program will be held at the Civic Center before proceeding to Grant Park. From there the motorcade will continue back to Meigs Field.

Collins Has Message for Dropouts & Hippies

(Editor's Note -- Before going to the moon, Michael Collins wrote this article to counter some of the arguments of those who don't trust anyone over 30 and do not want to "knuckle-under to adult conformity." Written for a special education book while he was under contract to World Book Science Service, the article airs his thoughts about the value of education and the advantages of being a "square.")

Copyright 1969 World Book Science Service

BY ASTRONAUT
MICHAEL COLLINS

Whenever I encounter a youngster uncertain about his plans for an education, I remind him of an old political adage that still holds true in 99 per cent of the cases, "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em."

The "them" I'm talking about are the adults. Like it or not, for the foreseeable future it is the adults who determine the success, or lack of it, of most young people just beginning their careers.

It is the adults who do the hiring. Most adults have learned from experience, so why not take advantage of that experience.

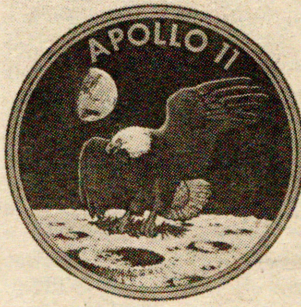

They are convinced that a good education is necessary for a good job. It's as simple as that, and what's more the adults can prove it by the record.

The days of the self-made man, with a one - room schoolhouse education but lots of common sense and grit, are long past in this technological age.

Even a high school education, once considered adequate, is not enough to insure a job on even the lowest rung in many instances.

When I am asked whether this isn't knuckling under to adult conformity, my reply goes something like this:

"Look, in a few years you'll be an adult yourself. So you quit your education with high school while your best friend has gone on to college. You're clerking in a dry goods store while he's a bank president.

"And that's going to be a 365-day-a-year blow to your pride, all day, every day. And the same thing will happen with the rest of your friends who haven't 'knuckled under'."

If a potential dropout continues to resist, I ask him what plans he has for a family, and how he hopes to educate his own children.

How will he feel when he can afford only a modest home in a low-income neighborhood while his wife's and his friends live in far more comfortable surroundings?

Too often, I encounter the argument that big cars and homes are mere material possessions, vulgar displays of "The Affluent Society" and so on.

Quite true, but these are the criteria by which an adult world judges it peers, and they appear likely to endure in our society. The dropout will learn the hard way that you can't fight city hall, and he'll end up sweeping its hallways.

Even those who go on to college soon learn that they have to keep right on studying simply to hold the jobs they've got. Things are happening too fast these days, and no matter whether he's a businessman or a scientist, he'll have to keep abreast to stay where the action is.

But to return to my original idea. The adults not only do the hiring. It's the adults who do the promoting, who select what promising young scientist gets the research grant, which young reporter gets a year's leave on a fellowship.

Their insistence on an education is not mere whim.

But, many argue, good jobs that don't require a college education are easy to find and pay well.

To which my rebuttal goes something like this: "Granted what you say, that some of the jobs you mention pay what amount to executive salaries -- like a steel mill foreman, for instance. But would you want to do exactly the same job every working day of your life, say 40 years of it?"

"With never a change, never a challenge."

The young people may say it's not safe to trust anybody over 30, but -- like it or not -- they have no choice if they are going to live full and rewarding lives and, in time, themselves become mature adults, aware that youth has always had and always will have a lot to learn before the world can be passed on to it safely and responsibly.

Favorite Foods Reflect Personalities Of Astronauts

Copyright 1969 World Book
Science Service

Neil Armstrong, the first man on the moon, has a sweet tooth, and he's looking forward to his wife's apple kuchen, strawberry shortcake and butterscotch pudding now that he is out of quarantine.

Armstrong is largely responsible for the fact that there was plenty of butterscotch pudding on the Apollo 11 mission, and plenty of butterscotch brownies in the Lunar Receiving Laboratory where the astronauts were checked for exotic Moon germs.

Now that they have been released, Edwin (Buzz) Aldrin, who walked on the moon with Armstrong, will be able to enjoy his favorite breakfast of papaya, oatmeal and eggs Benedict. He is also looking forward to plenty of corn on the cob, chicken a la babala, oxtail soup and lime chiffon pie.

But Michael Collins is the real gourmet of the three. He enjoys reading esoteric cookbooks in bed, and he chuckles loudly over some of the way-out directions. One of his favorite meals is sharing a couple of dozen snails and a bottle of good French wine with his wife Pat.

Their wives and their favorite recipes reflect the personalities of the Apollo 11 astronauts. Jan Armstrong earned a home economics degree from Purdue University, and she says all her basic recipes and cooking skills come from there.

She carefully plans nutritious protein-filled menus and is as efficient around the house as Neil is flying a spacecraft or a jet fighter. Their taste in food is wholesome, ordinary and a bit bland.

The Aldrins are more unorthodox and earthy. Joan Aldrin's favorite breakfast is cold left-over spaghetti and meatballs. Unlike other astronaut wives who spend their time on home and community activities, she has a "career" with an amateur theater group.

Joan is as dedicated to her acting as Buzz is to his astronautics. "In some circles," says Buzz, "I am known as Joan Aldrin's husband."

The most relaxed and outgoing -- the most fun family -- of the three couples are Pat and Mike Collins.

Both are gourmet cooks. Pat, who holds a B.A. in English from Emmanuel College in Boston, hates to cook day-to-day family meals, but loves "a special company dinner that's different and fun."

Mike also spends a lot of time in the kitchen. "He goes to town on my spice shelf," says Pat.

Mike met Pat when she was working and he was stationed at Chambley Air Force Base in France. Both brought back a love of French cooking and wine.

"When we were in France," says Mike, "we would buy one bottle of wine at a time -- never more -- and savor it and study its pedigree."

"By the time I came home, I could tell a good wine from a bad one, roughly what district it was from and, if it had a distinctive bouquet, what vineyard it was from. I've lost most of that now. Good French wine is just too expensive to fool with."

Pat Cooks "by guess and by gosh," dealing in dashes and pinches rather than measurements. "I can't tell you how many ordinary people my recipes feed," she confesses.

The Collins have two daughters, ages 10 and 7, and one son, Mike Jr., 6. Neil and Jan Armstrong have two sons, Eric, 12, and Mark, 6. The Aldrin family includes Mike, 13, Andy, 11, and Jan, almost 12. Here is a sampling of their favorite recipes:

Jan Armstrong: "This one was given to me by my mother."

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE
2-½ cups brown sugar
1 pt. white corn syrup
8 tablespoons butter (¼ lb.)
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon vanilla

Heat (do not boil) and combine the sugar, corn syrup, butter, and salt until the sugar dissolves; then cool. Add to cooled mixture the heavy cream and vanilla. Then beat until well mixed.

Store in covered jar in refrigerator. It keeps for months. Delicious served over ice cream or as topping to favorite pudding."

Joan Aldrin: "This is one of the many recipes my stepmother has given me over the years. She is a superb cook in the traditional Italian-style cooking though this particular one is kind of a mish-mash as to nationality."

CHICKEN A LA BABALA
4 chicken breasts
seasoned flour
butter
1 cup chopped onions
2 garlic cloves
rosemary parsley
¾ cup sherry
3 tablespoons vinegar

Roll chicken breasts in seasoned flour and saute in butter. Add the onions, garlic cloves, a few pinches of rosemary and some fresh parsley or a tablespoon of dried parsley. Cook 5 or 10 minutes. Add sherry and vinegar. Cover and simmer 20-25 minutes. Serve with rice. Add some hot water to drippings in pan to make a gravy.

Pat Collins: "This is a real 'fun' thing to serve and it's also delicious. Mike and

I were introduced to it while living in France, where of course it is prepared with fresh snails.

SNAILS (LES ESCARGOTS)
½ lb. (2 sticks) butter
(you can substitute margarine, but if so go easy on adding salt)
1 tablespoon chopped chives
2 cloves garlic, minced
3 tablespoons chopped parsley salt
pepper
1 can (36 medium) snails and packaged shells

Prepare seasoned butter by mixing in chives, garlic and parsley with a fork. Mix well, but keep consistency of hard paste. Season with salt and pepper. Stuff a little of butter mixture into each shell with demitasse spoon or fingers. Put in one snail per shell, pushing snail well back, and fill to brim with butter mixture. Arrange on baking sheet and heat in hot oven (450 degrees) until bubbling - 5 minutes.

cilities, my science teacher was soon sending me off to the libraries of nearby colleges: Ohio State, Ohio Northern, and Bowling Green.

These became my research centers and, in fact, schools in themselves. Since my school didn't offer a course in trigonometry, I studied and learned the subject in college libraries, with textbooks recommended by my math teacher.

I knew I would have to know it because, even then, I knew what I wanted to be.

I'd been building model airplanes ever since I was old enough to read the instructions.

When I grew up, I would design the real thing, and if I were going to do that I'd need an engineering degree, and an engineering degree required trigonometry. Simple.

Wapakoneta High taught me something else, too, that's not in any textbook or course: You can lose just as readily as you can win, but either way you learn something from the experience.

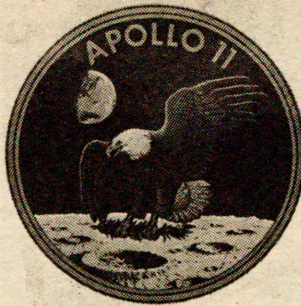

Competing in an inter-scholastic science fair, I built a working alcohol-system turbine as my entry. It ran like a Swiss watch at home.

At the fair it just sat there and did absolutely nothing. I learned as much from trying to locate the fault and fixing it as I did building it.

Graduating from Wapakoneta High, I enrolled in Purdue University's School of Engineering in 1947.

Originally, my choice had been M.I.T. (Massachusetts Institute of Technology), but Purdue's reputation for excellence in aeronautical engineering and its superb facilities swayed me, just as it undoubtedly influenced my friends, the late Gus Grissom, and Gene Cernan. (Cernan flew on Apollo 10 and helped pave the way for a moon landing.)

You Can Always Learn, Says Armstrong

It came as a jolt to discover that the kind of student-teacher relationship I had known in high school simply didn't exist at Purdue. The university couldn't have cared less if I passed or failed.

In effect, it was telling me, "You're a man now. It's entirely up to you to make the grade."

During this period I learned to fly light aircraft, and after two years of college I felt convinced that to become a competent airplane designer I should extend my piloting experience to heavier, more complex aircraft.

To this end, I became a Navy pilot in 1949, completed flight training and flew 78 missions in Korea.

In 1951, I returned to Purdue on a Navy scholarship, familiar at first-hand with high-quality aircraft, to complete my work towards a Bachelor of Science degree in aeronautical engineering, awarded in 1955.

That same year I joined NASA's Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, Ohio, and later transferred to their High Speed Flight Station at Edwards Air Force Base (California) as a research (test) pilot.

Then, in September of 1962, I was selected for NASA's astronaut program.

Even today, though, I haven't forgotten that little non-working alcohol-powered turbine of mine back in Wapakoneta.

When we run into a problem here at the Manned Spacecraft Center and something that worked great in the laboratory just sits there and does nothing at all, I know we'll learn something by finding out what went wrong.

In my book, you always win from losing. But it's nicer to win in the first place.

From Monkeys to Moon, Godbold Has Covered U.S. Space Program

Our News Team At Cape Kennedy

"Whether it's Al, John or Ham, About Space I don't give a damn"

So stated one letter writer to Col. John Glenn following his Earth orbital flight on Feb. 20, 1962.

Those sentiments, however, do not apply to James M. Godbold, President of Tri-County Publishing Co. and World Book Encyclopedia Science Service, Inc., both subsidiaries of Field Enterprises, Inc.

From monkeys to the Moon, Godbold has followed and covered the progress of the United States manned space program.

His involvement became more than that of a World War II Marine flyer turned photo-journalist when in September, 1962, President John F. Kennedy and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration released information that the astronauts through a representative and private publishers could contract for personal and family articles.

Although at that time Director of Photography for the National Geographic Society and Magazine, God-bold sought and was granted permission to discuss the exciting prospects of such a contract with another publisher.

(The Geographic under the terms of their charter could not bid in a competitive market for those rights.)

In November, 1962, Godbold discussed the potential of such an arrangement with representatives of Field Enterprises Educational Corporation, publishers of World Book Encyclopedia.

Subsequently, the proposal for international news and book rights to the personal stories of U.S. astronauts was granted to Field Enterprises Educational Corporation.

The agreements were authorized and signed by Mr. Bailey K. Howard, now President and Chief Executive Officer of Field Enterprises, Inc.

Godbold later accepted a proposal from Field to leave the National Geographic and was sent to Houston, Texas, to organize World Book Science Service, Inc., which in the last five years has grown to be one of the most published and respected specialized news services in the world.

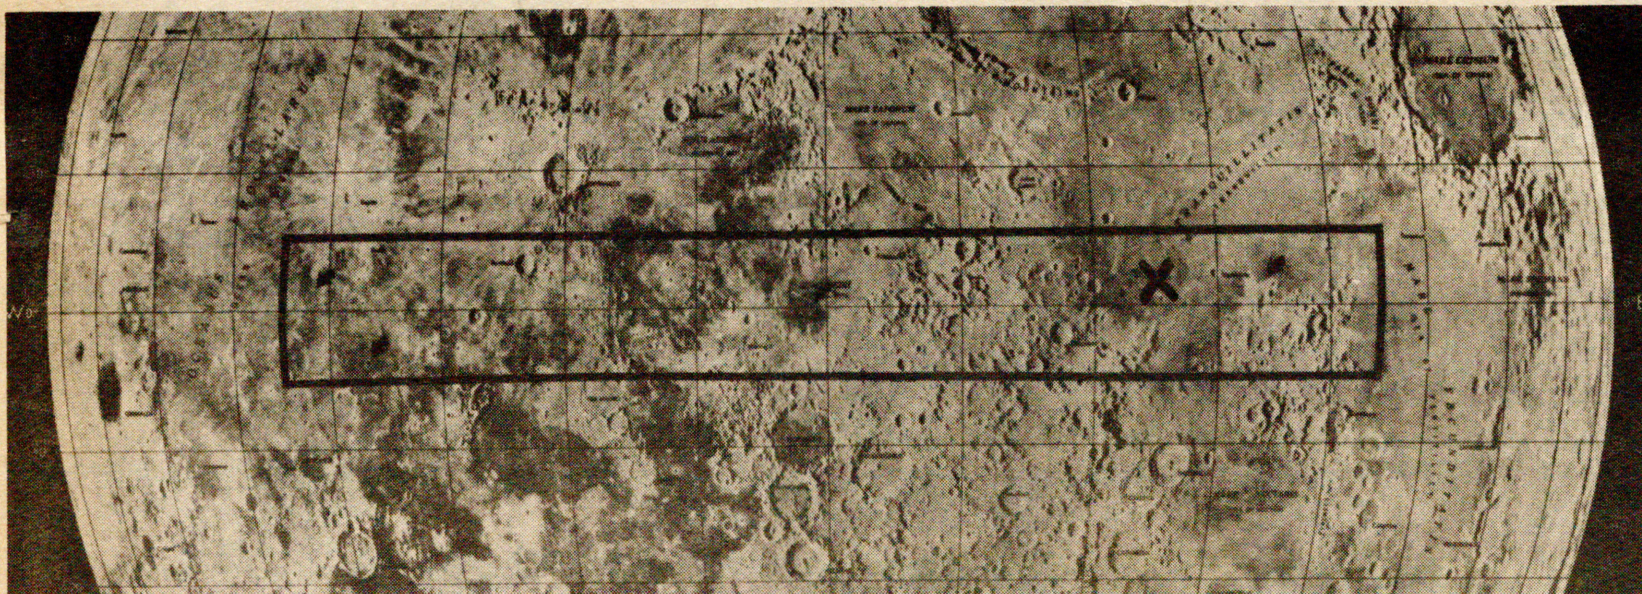

It is through this association with the astronauts, plus having been a founder and coordinator of the Manned Space Still Photographic Pool at Kennedy Space Center, that the Graphic Newspapers have enjoyed a special privilege in bringing its readers eyewitness stories and spectacular color photographs not generally available to suburban community newspapers.

Godbold stated that "ten years may seem to some a long time to be devoted to covering the same story. In terms of mankind's history on Earth and his accomplishments it is less than a second, but an enormously significant second."

Staffers Witness Apollo Missions

Two other members of the Graphic Newspapers staff have witnessed and covered all of the Apollo program manned space flights.

They are Walter Bixby, Editorial Director and General Manager, and Pat Callahan, Chief of Photography.

FROM the Sea of Tranquility (indicated by X) along the Moon's mid-section came words the world had been awaiting: "Houston, Tranquility base here. The Eagle has landed," called Neil Armstrong. It was 4:17:41 p.m. (EDT) on July 20, 1969, a mere 1 1/2 minutes earlier than the landing time scheduled many months before in flight plans. Armstrong landed the lunar module manually a few yards west of the planned site because the automatic landing system was taking the Eagle into a football field-sized crater littered with rocks and boulders.

of getting back more in value than we spend in space.

The space program so far has been a great thrust forward and we have been talking about a tremendous scientific return. We know that reaching and exploring new areas will result in valuable new concepts, techniques and hardware. New energy sources might be found by looking into the unknown.

We've been talking about this as being the big payoff to look for in the space program. But to date, all we have is a foundation for that payoff. What we've done so far is build a system that is capable of transporting man to the moon and to near-Earth space.

Now what do we do with it? Do we just hang another carrot way out front and say, "okay, let's go to Mars." I am a little bit concerned about some of our high officials saying that we should do this right away.

So we're going to forget this one, and we'll start another $50,000,000 project to build a better and bigger truck.

I feel we should concentrate our space efforts on an Earth-orbiting station. This is very practical for this time period because we can use hardware we have already developed for launching and putting it together. We do not have to develop a whole new series of boosters.

To make this space station practical, we need a space ferry that could land anywhere on Earth -- the Pacific Ocean or on land. Then we could cruise up there for a week, two weeks, a month. We could take experimental equipment back and forth and establish a scientific base.

We could survey Earth's resources from space -- the first step in intelligently developing them. We could learn just how much natural wealth our planet has and how we can get the most out of it without ruinous exploitation. We could keep track of and predict the world's weather two weeks or more in advance.

Information from a space station could form the basis of pollution control and management and conservation of public lands. We could study the solar storms that disrupt communications on Earth and endanger astronauts. Scientists could learn the nature of energetic particles and rays that careen through space.

Telescopes could be used for gaining new knowledge about other planets and stars. Sensors and telescopes on an orbiting station would enable us to keep track of events on Earth -- everything from crop inventories to the launching of missiles. There's no limit to what you can do with telescopes and sensors on a permanent space station.

Our big opportunity now is to show how the utilization of space can benefit us all. Meanwhile, let's keep studying a Mars mission. There are some areas that need more basic research before we send astronauts on a 50-million-mile journey that would take a year or more.

Let's keep our options open without going ahead and cutting hardware and drawing up the detailed blueprints.

We also should learn as much as we can about the moon. We will know at the end of the nine more moon landings planned for the Apollo program whether it is wise to have colonies on the moon.

Say we make landings on different parts of the lunar surface and there is nothing different than we've already learned. Then we would not want to go to all the effort and expense of setting up and supplying a lunar colony.

Every major thrust forward -- every great breakthrough -- has been followed by a time of consolidation. It seems to me that we are standing at this sort of crossroad now.

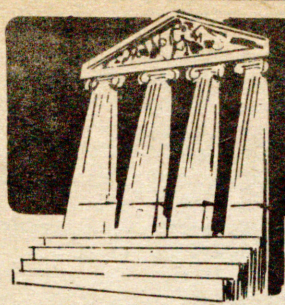

That's the reason I get concerned when people start talking about going to Mars as though it is a foregone conclusion that we'll go to the next easiest place. Some day we will go to Mars. But at present we have enough problems here at home.

A Mars mission might cost $75 to $100 billion or more. To make such a commitment in light of the other problems we have on Earth and in light of the other things that can be done in space much cheaper would be a mistake right now.

I'm concerned that administration and space officials will try to present Congress with a Mars landing program costing about $100 billion over 15 years. Congress might shoot the proposal down completely and the manned program would get nothing. If Vietnam is over one of these days, civil rights problems are solved and education in the cities has improved, then I'm for going to Mars.

Meanwhile, we'll have kept our options open and kept up a space program near Earth that can maximize the return on our investment.
